Spring Creek stretch rebuilt into an asset

By Ryan Broege
EDITOR

"We were really reluctant to do this at first," said Brad Williams, who along with his brother Jeff keep roughly 1,500 head of dairy cattle on a concentrated feeding operation named Williams Bedrock Bovines. "All we wanted to do was cut some trees."

The Williams rent a plot of land from Bob Beckwith just north of Oakley on County Highway OK. Running along the southern perimeter of the field is Spring Creek, an appendage of the Lower Sugar River Watershed.

The stream entered "rehab" nearly a year ago, and a field day was held July 7 to mark the progress made along the 2,770 lineal feet rehabilitated.

When the project got underway, the section of Spring Creek was little more than a nuisance. Nearly every year, and in multiple locations, the creek would "blow out" its banks, said to Jeff Williams.

According to Brad Williams, last year flooding claimed rows 60 feet deep into the field, creating water hazards that proved impossible for Williams' auto-steer machinery to navigate.

The original plan brought to Green County sought approval to remove some trees. However, the Williams' and Beckwith were soon convinced to commit to a more stringent stream restoration project, and work got underway in August of last year.

As originally planned, fallen trees were removed from the stream bed and its banks. Even upright, Willows and Box Elder trees have a poor chance along the creek, as both species are ill-suited for the habitat.

Also gone were creek's steep, unstable banks. They were reclaimed, and the 8-foot drop-offs gave way to gently sloping shorelines stretching more than 15 feet inland.

The new banks were seeded with a native mix of grass seed, but the species take a while to take hold, according to Susan Lehnhardt, director of the Lower Sugar River Watershed Association.

Lastly, log deflectors were placed along the bed. According to the Ohio DNR, log deflectors work by directing current away from the banks, which in turn creates slack water along the stream banks, dissipating the stream's energy.

On Beckwith's land, the deflectors appear to be little more than serendipitously fallen logs. However, the logs are placed with extreme precision, and incorporated with live plant matter that can assume the deflection duties after the log decays.

This span of Spring Creek used to be the site of near-annual flooding, and last year poured 60 feet into a crop field. A year after a rehabilitation project got underway, the stream is the calmest its ever been, according to Jeff Williams, who runs the formerly-flooded acreage. Pictured on the left is a log deflector, which slows currents and reduces erosion.

Brad Williams was not an early believer in the deflectors. "When we heard 30 percent of the stream's sediment is sourced from its own banks, we thought the log deflectors were a joke," he said. "But we smiled and said OK, and they went on ahead."

Nearly a year later, as he points out achievements and progress in along the creek, Brad Williams pointed to more than a couple locations in the stream where a log deflector was needed, or a tree was left standing.

With a touch of pique, he explains that they were forced to bypass the spot last year, and would definitely remedy the site this year.

Early-going hesitation or skepticism seems to have given way to proud dedication to the project.

Both Williams brothers praised the Green County agricultural offices and credited them with the project's early success.

"With being a CAFO, we work with the DNR and 590 organizations (oversees of CAFOs Nutrient Management Plan, which painstakingly outlines soil data, projected plantings, manure spreading schedules and other details), I don't think a lot of people realize how tremendous of an agricultural building we have," said Brad Williams.

Brad Williams also credited Beckwith, whose work on the project he characterized as "tremendous" and "the reason for doing this."

The work will continue on approximately Tuesday, August 1, with another 2,770 feet slated for improvements.

Sunborn Flowers to host Green County Master Gardeners

Sunborn Flowers, 9593 Overland Rd, Mt. Horeb, WI will be hosting the Green County Master Gardeners for a tour on Thursday, July 27th, at 7:00pm. This tour is also open to the general public for participation.

Join the tour of this unique flower farm where you will see a variety of shrubs, perennials, bulbs and annuals all planted for cutting for bouquets.

Sunborn Flowers farms intensively on about four irrigated acres with 3 hoop houses. Carol Larsen, along with her son Hans Larsen will be our tour guides for the evening.

Carol has sold flowers since her first visit to the Dane County Farmers Market in 1975. Her son, Hans joined the business in 2011 and has enlarged the marketing stream for Sunborn with weddings, restaurants and a community-supported agriculture program.

The Green County Wisconsin Master Gardeners Association was formed in Green County in 2004 to provide Master Gardeners with opportunities for professional development and community service. Master Gardener Volunteers help to provide beauty and growth in communities for flower, plant, and vegetative areas.

GCMGA President, Marilyn Sandin-Ross, invites you to participate in the opportunities offered by the Green County Master Gardeners Program.

The Green County Master Gardeners Association meets on the fourth Thursday of the month from February through October. Anyone interested in horticulture and gardening is welcome to join the association and you do not have to be a Master Gardener to be a member or to attend.

For more information on the University of Wisconsin Extension Master Gardener program, contact Mark Mayer, agriculture agent, at (608)328-9440.

Nobody better than Parkview's custodial at safety, defusing hazards

Parkview Schools' custodial staff knows their stuff. Better than any other staff in the state, it turns out.

Gary Lewis, Joel Monk, Donna Nolan, Connie Sturkey and Michael Yarbrough of the Parkview School District won the group prize in the Safety Room Challenge at a professional conference at Waunakee High School on June 21.

In the Safety Room Challenge, teams or individuals were asked to tour a mechanical and woodshop room, identify potential hazards and safety concerns, and explain how they should be remedied.

Some possible answers: blocked emergency exit, empty first aid kit, commingled ammonia and bleach bottles and unsecured tools.

The score was based on the number of accurate answers provided in two-and-a-half minutes.

Parkview's team earned the most points with 22 correct answers out of 39 possible.

The Custodial & Maintenance Conference was organized by the Wisconsin Association of School Business Officials.

Area 4-Hers judge livestock at Animal Science Days

On June 23, youth from Green County participated in the Southwest District 4-H Dairy Judging Contest at the Dodge County Fairgrounds in Beaver Dam, Wis. This event was a culmination of over three months of weekly practices held at different farms throughout Green County.

Over the past three months, these dairy youth learned how to evaluate dairy cows and heifers using the PDCA (Purebred Dairy Cattle Association) Dairy Cow Unified Scorecard and place classes using this methodology to rank animals in the four major categories – frame, dairy strength, udder, and rear feet and legs.

In addition, juniors (youth under 14-years-old) learned how to answer Type Analysis Questions (TAQs) on each class. Seniors (14-years-old and older) learned how to give oral reasons on how they placed a particular class. At the district contest, each individual had eight classes to judge. Each class consisted of four animals to place. Juniors also had to answer 10 TAQs for two of the classes, and write reasons as a team for one class. Seniors had to present oral reasons individually on three of the classes.

Both the junior and senior teams performed well. The junior team placed third overall and will be heading to the state contest in Black River Falls, Wis. Marissa Vosberg (Young Americans 4-H) placed first in the overall junior competition. Other team members were: Emma Hendrickson (Dayton Dairylanders 4-H), Alyssa Holcomb (Washington Center 4-H), Alex Roe (Washington Center 4-H), Deven Gilson (York 4-H) and Nick Roe (Washington Center 4-H).

In addition, Emily Makos (Spring Grove Honest Workers 4-H) competed in the showmanship competition.

Brooks Hendrickson and Chris Voegeli coached the junior team. Kelsi Mayer and Mike Marean coached the seniors. Thank you to everyone who helped support the youth this year, including the host farms, parents, coaches and University of Wisconsin-Extension. Congratulations to all the youth who participated.

The Green County Jr. Livestock Judging Team competed at the Dodge County Area Animal Science Days as well. The team members consisted of Tristin Flanagan (Washington Center 4-H), Katie Brooks (Stateline 4-H), Breanna Brooks (Stateline 4-H), and Jackie Nusbaum (Next Generation 4-H). Reece Rufer (Hiawatha 4-H) competed in the senior division.

Deven Klopfenstein coached the swine and sheep unit, and Eric Katzenberger handled coaching duties for the beef unit. A special mention should also be given to Plum River Ranch and Heavenly Show Cattle for providing locations for the Livestock Team to practice.

Area Animal Science Days are designed to give youth an opportunity to learn more about livestock evaluation, while increasing decision making skills through judging and grading experiences. These events are focused more on the learning experience rather than the contest and competition.

For more information about the dairy and livestock judging teams, contact Ellen Andrews, 4-H youth development educator, at (608)-328-9440.

History of the Green County Fair

The historical account of the Green County Fair was compiled by Ken Allen using the following resources:

• The minutes from the Green County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute (Green County Fair) that date back to 1857.

Articles from the Monroe Sentinel and the Monroe Evening Times

• Records and publications of the Green County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute

• Interviews with past and present officers and directors of the Green County Fair

• Records of the "History of Green County" published in 1884 and reprinted by the Higginson Book Company of Salem, Massachusetts.

The organization of the Agricultural Society began on July 4, 1853 when a few people interested in a Society of this kind met in the old courthouse in Monroe, Wis.

The first fair of this Agricultural Society was held in November of 1853 at the courthouse. Premiums amounted to $100 and the majority of the exhibits were farm produce. Carnivals and amusements were not yet part of the fair tradition.

The person who should get the most credit for the organization of the Green County Fair was John A. Bingham. He was the first attorney in Green County after Wisconsin became a state. He also served as the first county judge.

In 1854 the Society purchased grounds just north of the village. The 7 acres were purchased from A. Ludlow for $400. In order to fence the area and build necessary buildings they issued "Life Member Certificates" for $10 each.

The 1854 fair, held on the new grounds in October, was the first outdoor fair. The sum of $200 was paid in premiums.

On March 31, 1856 the State Legislature issued an act for the encouragement of agriculture. This resulted in an extensive fair being planned for 1857. In July of 1857 the first meeting of the "Green County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute" as we know it today was held.

The original fairs, held in the autumn at that time, emphasized handicrafts in addition to agriculture, thus the need for "mechanics institute" in the title of the original organization. The importance of crafts which were apparent in Monroe's tin shops, blacksmith and shoemakers shops, even in the coffin maker's trade, should not be underestimated at these fairs.

In 1865 the grounds were sold to Christopher Martin for $105 an acre and a committee was appointed to secure a new location. Under the authority of the Society, the committee purchased two parcels of land in 1866. The first was from Arabut Ludlow on April 3rd. This area of 7 3/8 acres was purchased for $400. The second parcel of land was purchased from William Hodges.

It consisted of 6 acres with a purchase price of $750. These plots of land were side by side on the east side of the village. This brought the total acreage to 13 3/8 acres.

The Jockey Club built a race track on the grounds in 1866. The exact length of the track is unknown, but it is believed to have been 1/2 mile. This track was too small to start races from a starting gate so, naturally, it limited the number of horses that could be in a race.

A new 1/2 mile track was built in 1900 on the south side of the grounds running east to west. The present track has been rated as one of the top in the Midwest.

Quotes from harness racers over the years and up to the present, rate the track as one of the best they've ever raced on.

A small grandstand that probably seated 500 people was built in 1886 for $1,485. In 1901 they added 180 feet to its length. This structure was renovated and repaired many times and was extensively rebuilt in 1948. This facility was used until the fall of 1972 when it was destroyed by a tornado.

Boys were allowed to exhibit at the fair starting in 1867 and girls in 1885. There were no 4-H clubs until 1914 and no FFA chapters until 1928. However, there were boys and girls clubs dating back to 1867.

Bands were important entertainment in the early years. 1868 the Society paid the German Silver Band musicians $50 for playing for events of the Green County Fair. In general entertainment was not provided, however, in 1874 Harry Leslie, "the Hero of Niagara Falls" entertained at the fair. He was the second man to walk a tightrope 1,100 feet across the falls 151 feet above the ground.

His demonstration at the Green County Fair must have seemed like a cakewalk in comparison with his walk over the falls. The main entertainment in the early years was baseball games and bands from the area. The Albany, Warren, Monroe, Lena, New Glarus, and Brodhead bands participated in fair events for many years.

In 1871 the Society purchased 12 1/2 acres from Arabut Ludlow for $1,000 and in 1888 they purchased 10 acres from Gilbert Hodges for $3,000. Additional lots were purchased in 1917 and 1920 bringing the total acreage of the grounds up to approximately 30 acres, the same as today.

The 1909 Fair was one of most successful in the first 100 years of the Green County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute. Several firsts occurred at this fair – the first carnival and the first night fair.

At a fair board meeting early in the summer of 1909 E. F. Carruthers of the United States Booking Association of Chicago presented to the board putting on a carnival as the main entertainment for the fair. This show, traveling in its own train of 12 cars, would be the largest aggregation that had appeared in Monroe, Wis. up to that time.

Mr. Carruthers stated that they would have several free acts and would charge admission for such rides as the Ferris Wheel and the Merry-Go-Round. The other part of the carnival would include such acts at Wild West shows, theater presentations, and the human roulette wheel.

Monroe horsemen had three of the best racing horses in the nation. This started out with George Bleier's great Chestnet stallion, Knight of Strathmore.

In fact, Knight of Strathmore was so good that he had a hard time getting any competition for racing at the Green County Fair or any other fair in the area. He was so feared that the Green County Fair could not fill the race because he was entered. After considerable discussion and due deliberation it was voted to bar Knight of Strathmore from the race.

However, they offered him $100 for an exhibition race each day. This was providing that he break the state record for 3 year olds on a 1/2 mile track on Friday and the world's record on Saturday of the fair. He made a track record of 2:09 1/2 to beat the record of 2:11, but, was indisposed the next day and did not try to set a world record.

Knight of Strathmore set the mile world record in Monroe in 1910 as a four year old of 2:05 1/2. He held this record throughout his lifetime.

F.B. Luchsinger owned two record-breaking horses that raced on the Green County Fair track. They were Calumet Delco and Peter M'Kinney.

Veterinary Guidelines

1. Fair veterinarians are available/on call for the entire week of the fair.
2. If a veterinarian is needed for a 4-H/FFA animal on exhibit at the fair, you should register your request at the Fair Secretary's Office and a veterinarian will be contacted.
3. A veterinary exam of an animal is free of charge, any treatment expenses will be charged to the exhibitor.
4. Any expenses occurred during fair week will need to be paid at the Fair Office before animal release.
5. Only fair veterinarians may sign an animal release form to release an animal early.

The Green County Fair Board of Directors wishes to acknowledge the Rock Valley Veterinary Medical Association for assigning the veterinarians to serve our fair each year.

Livestock truck and trailer policy

On Sunday trailers will be allowed on the grounds after 7:00 p.m. At that time, livestock trucks and trailers will be admitted through the East Gate, at no charge, and exit the North Gate onto 9th Street. No vehicles will be allowed to enter through the North Gate.

People loading livestock and/or exhibit materials are asked not to block or impede the flow of traffic on the grounds. Trailers left on the grounds, during the Fair, must be parked in the designated area at the Southeast corner of the fairgrounds by the exit gate.

In an attempt to create a safe and enjoyable fair for everyone, there will be no parking around the livestock barns from Thursday to Saturday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Exhibitors will be able to bring in feed and supplies to the barns between 8 p.m. to 8 a.m.

THERE WILL BE NO EXCEPTIONS TO THE ABOVE POLICIES.

Notice to fairgoers

For the protection of all fairgoers, the Green County Fair Board makes the following recommendations:

• Because of possible food contamination – food and beverages should not be consumed in the barns.

• Washing of hands is recommended after contact with animals

• Use of strollers is not recommended in the barns

Comfortable on his haunches

Roxanne Ace, age 9, of New Horizons 4-H club, directs her German Shepherd, Ruger, through obedience classes at the Green County dog show on July 8. This year was Roxanne's first time bringing a dog project to the county fair. Training was mostly successful, according to Ace, but Ruger "doesn't want to lay down, he only wants to sit!"

Pre-Novice A class

Sierra McGuire, 13, of Young Americans 4-H club, leads her Chihuahua, Jax, through obedience showing in the Pre-Novice A class. The class is limited to beginners, showing dogs no more than a year old. The Green County Dog Project Fair Show was held July 8 in the Stock Pavillion on the fairgrounds in Monroe, Wis.

Libraries join forces to host night of family fun at New Glarus state park

Join libraries from across Green County, along with the Friends of New Glarus Woods State Park, for an evening of family fun on Saturday, July 15 from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. at New Glarus Woods State Park, W5446 County Highway NN, New Glarus.

Activities including story time, arts and crafts, and a scavenger hunt will run 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. There will also be opportunities for quiet reading and trail walking. A presentation on the Furbearers of Wisconsin will take place from 6 to 7 p.m.

Children will also have a chance to draw their favorite furbearing animal and submit it for inclusion on future signage at the park.

Families are encouraged to bring picnic dinners to the park. Attendees who do not have a 2017 Wisconsin State Parks sticker can receive free admission by showing a Wisconsin library card at the ranger station starting at 4 p.m.

This year's Summer Reading Program theme, "Build a Better World," encourages participants to appreciate resources on a local, national, and global level, including an appreciation of the outdoors.

"Because our summer reading program focuses on how we can better our communities and our world, a countywide library event was a natural fit," said Angela Noel, Library Director at Brodhead Memorial Public Library.

"We are excited to bring our libraries to the outdoors and highlight the natural resources Green County offers."

Creatures will abound at the New Glarus Woods State Park on Saturday, July 15.

"We hope to welcome many newcomers to discover the beauty of a state park that is right here in Green County," said Beth Blahut, Co-President of the Friends of New Glarus Woods State Park.

A highlight of the evening will be a presentation on the Furbearers of Wisconsin, by Jamie Nack, UW–Extension Certified Wildlife Biologist. Wisconsin is home to 19 furbearing species including fox, fisher, and muskrat.

Attendees will learn about animal habits and habitats and also have a chance to touch and explore pelts, skulls, and tracks.

For more information, contact any Green County Library: Albany, Belleville, Brodhead, Monroe, Monticello or New Glarus. Or, visit newglaruswoods.org.

Monroe Clinic residency program receives high marks from AOA

The American Osteopathic Association (AOA) recently awarded Monroe Clinic's Family Medicine Residency Program an overall 98 percent accreditation score.

"We are very pleased Monroe Clinic was recognized by the American Osteopathic Association for providing quality education and training for residents in our family medicine program," Lori Rodefeld, Monroe Clinic Medical Education Coach, said. "As a new program, the faculty and staff have worked hard to ensure our residents receive excellent clinical training."

Launched in 2014, the program was the first new family medicine residency program in Wisconsin in more than 20 years, and the first AOA accredited rural training path in the country. The AOA is the authority for accreditation of osteopathic residency programs in the U.S. and ensures the quality of training programs.

Upon its recent review, the program received a full five-year accreditation, which is the maximum length provided by the AOA. Monroe Clinic's program earned 117 of 119 possible points during the inspection.

Off to a strong start

Rodefeld said the score of 98 percent is a testament to the outstanding work of CJ Smith, DO, program director, along with the faculty and staff who provide essential support to the first residents in the program. Residents receive broad training, including care of the entire family, prenatal and obstetrical care, and inpatient medicine.

"This training provides a broad foundation that helps meet the healthcare needs of patients in rural communities," Rodefeld said.

Introducing family medicine residents to the distinct benefits of rural health care enhances Monroe Clinic's ability to recruit medical staff to the region—a continuing challenge for rural healthcare organizations across the nation.

According to the National Rural Health Association, 20 percent of our population lives in a rural community; however, only 9 percent of physicians currently practice in a rural setting. This disparity between providers and patients results in an underserved rural population. More recently, Academic Medicine (2013) reported less than 5 percent of recent graduates are practicing in a rural setting.

Two physicians in the patients' corner

With a high-quality training program in place at Monroe Clinic, patients can rest assured that they will receive outstanding care when seeing a resident physician.

"All resident visits are conducted in collaboration with an experienced Monroe Clinic physician who reviews every patient visit and often sees patients alongside the resident physician," Rodefeld said.

Physicians and residents work together to create an environment where the care of patients and education is the curriculum.

Meet the new class

With the residency program entering its third year, Monroe Clinic is preparing to welcome a new incoming class of residents, which include:

Mark Blomberg, DO

Mark Blomberg joins Monroe Clinic as a first-year resident after graduating from Des Moines University Medical School. Blomberg rotated at Monroe Clinic during his fourth year of medical school.

He was a founding member of the Betty Shaffer Foundation and is an Eagle Scout. His wife Brittany Blomberg is currently a first-year family medicine resident at Monroe Clinic. In his spare time, he enjoys fishing, hiking, geocaching, and other outdoor activities.

Tyler Manley, DO

Tyler Manley also joins Monroe Clinic as a first-year resident after graduating from Des Moines University Medical School. Manley also rotated with Monroe Clinic during his fourth year of medical school.

Manley is an avid basketball player and has years of experience coaching young adults. He hopes to continue working with young athletes to develop skills and assist them in accomplishing their goals.

Ben Chao, DO

Ben Chao joins the program as a transferring second-year resident from the Trinity Bettendorf Program in the Quad Cities. Chao also graduated from Des Moines University Medical School.

Chao was a lab technician with Eli Lilly before attending medical school. He has also volunteered with Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Other residents currently enrolled in the program include Brittany Blomberg, Mark Patterson, and Serene Bethune. Bethune will be the program's first graduate in July of 2018.

Monroe Clinic offering sports physicals

Summer is here, which means it is time for summer camps, leagues, and school athletics. Make sure athletes are ready for the game by completing a pre-participation sports screening or wellness physical.

These ensure young athletes are healthy and ready to perform. To receive a pre-participation sports screening come to a walk-in clinic on Wednesday, July 19 from 4 to 6 p.m. or Wednesday, August 2 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at Monroe Clinic Family Medicine, 515 22nd Ave., Monroe, Wis.

Pre-participation sports screenings address any health issues or injuries in preparation for the next sports season. These screenings do not replace complete physicals. Incoming ninth-grade students are not eligible to receive a pre-participation screening and should receive a full school physical in order to fully address adolescent health issues.

Insurance is not billed, so there is a $20 fee payable at the time of screening by cash, check or credit.

If athletes cannot make the July or August walk-in clinics, wellness physicals are available. Extended hours for athletes in June, July, and August make it convenient to come in and complete this wellness physical for the year.

Wellness physicals are a comprehensive health analysis and are covered by most insurance companies at no cost to the athlete. Immunizations are completed at these appointments, and they also fulfill the sports physical requirements. Go to monroeclinic.org/sportsmedicine for convenient locations and phone numbers.

POSITION OPENING

Job Title: Green County Human Resources Director
Department: Human Resources Department
Reports To: Personnel and Labor Relations Committee
Grade: Grade 18 Department Head ($62,905.05 - $78,156 annually)
Status: Full-time
FLSA Status: Exempt, non-union

The Human Resources Director is a newly created position in Green County that will be responsible for overseeing the human resources needs of over 400 full-time and part-time employees.

Position Summary: Assists the Personnel and Labor Relations Committee in administering the County's compensation plan, evaluates and analyzes salary data, determines pay grades, and conducts or participates in compensation surveys. Drafts and reviews job descriptions, monitors trends, assesses appropriate compensation levels, and recommends revisions to the compensation plan and the Employee Handbook. Identifies human resources and related initiatives to improve operational performance and optimize related costs. Conducts informal needs assessments and assists in determining appropriate training needs to improve County operations. Establishes and maintains effective working relationships with the general public, department heads, managers, supervisors, employees, elected officials and the County Board. Create job description, hire and supervise the Human Resources Coordinator. Other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications Desired: Bachelor's Degree from an accredited university or college in an organizational development or human resources related field, plus five years of progressively responsible experience in human resources, or any equivalent combination of education, training and experience which provides the necessary knowledge, skills, and abilities. Experience working with organizational development and/or training required. Past employment in state or municipal government a plus but not required.

The position requires the ability to exercise strict confidentiality in all aspects of work. A complete job description is available at the Green County Corporation Counsel's office.

Please submit an application and resume to the Green County Corporation Counsel, 2841 6th Street, Monroe, WI 53566. Position will be open until filled. First review of submitted applications will be conducted August 14, 2017. Applications are available online at http://www.co.green.wi.gov/ or at the Green County Clerk's office: Historic Green County Courthouse, 1016 16th Avenue, Monroe, WI 53566.

One way we can help each other get through these challenging times is to keep our dollars local. Here are three good reasons.

Reason #1: Shopping locally saves you gas and wear and tear on your vehicle.

Reason #2: When you spend your money locally, you support the businesses whose property taxes pay for our municipal services.

Reason #3: Many of our youth programs are supported and sponsored by local businesses and if we don't support them, they can't support our kids.
