Fury's Knauf girls in their own words

By Ryan Broege

EDITOR

The Rock County Fury is a girls high school co-op hockey team made up on of athletes from nine different schools, including Monroe, Albany, Janesville, Beloit and Milton. Two Albany natives, Haley and Alyssa Knauf, have been key players during the team's memorable 2018 campaign. The Knauf's and Head Coach Luke Steurer spoke to the Independent-Register after the teams overtime victory over the Mad City Metro Lynx.

"Tonight was crazy, to feel the energy that was in here," said Haley Knauf. "When we went into overtime, we were super confident, and coming out on top in overtime was the best feeling."

Haley predicted a tough matchup ahead when she was told the Fury's next opponent was the Cap City Cougars.

"I think it will be a hard battle," she said.

"I knew hockey was my sport when I was six years old, and had all my teammates around me, and I had those teammates for the next nine years," Haley Knauf said. "We just became a family, and I have loved playing with them over the years."

Alyssa Knauf, background, and Haley Knauf, no. 5, foreground, coordinate an attack on the net during the Rock County Fury's sectional semi-final loss to the Capital City Cougars last Saturday. The Knauf girls, of Albany, have both played a pivotal role in the co-op hockey team's success this season, which was ranked as high as fifth in the state this season. The Fury's season came to a close against the Cougars. Find the full story on page 3.

"Haley's been a great addition to the team this year, Head Coach Luke Steurer said. "She's one of those players that's always working hard out there on the ice."

"She might be sick, but she'll still be at practice giving it everything she has. She's been a real benefit to the team this year."

Alyssa Knauf opened up the scoring against the Lynx. "(Scoring that goal) gives you so much confidence and makes you feel so good to know you're helping out the team," she said.

Alyssa said the team was noticeably working much harder at Saturday's game, due to the intense play-off environment. "We knew we had to win this game," she said.

Alyssa said she, too, knew hockey was her sport very early on. "When I was five years old and we went to state, we got second place, but from that point on, I knew I would love this sport," said Alyssa Knauf.

Alyssa is just like her sister, a hard worker," Steurer said. "They both bring that mentality of giving it everything you have, every shift, and never give up."

The sport is a demanding one for the girls: the teams practice six or seven days a week, starting at 5 a.m. some mornings just to reserve ice time. The girls' practices include both 90 minutes off the ice, doing calisthenics and aerobic work beyond hockey drills, then an hour on the ice, split between ice arenas in Beloit, Monroe and Janesville.

Susie Knauf, the girls' mother, traverses the state, taking the girls to tournaments, practices, or open ice arenas.

The Monroe rink is put to other uses in the summertime, so the girls trek to Verona. "We wouldn't have it any other way," Susie Knauf said.

Some people get scared away by the costs, but swimming or dance can be just as, if not more, costly, she said. "The girls love it. It's their favorite thing to do."

A senior night to remember

Thursday's game was also senior night at Juda High School. After student coaching for the past seven years, senior Justin Roth, started in his first game. Roth has been unable to participate in sports due to a genetic condition, osteogenesis imperfecta, or brittle bone disease. After the tip off, the ball was passed to Roth, who got the ball back after a missed shot attempt and scored the game's first two points.

Comets fall to powerhouse Black Hawk

By Derek Hoesly
CORRESPONDENT

The No.1 ranked and one-seed Black Hawk (24-0 overall, 12-0 Six Rivers) proved too much for eight-seed Albany (10-14 overall, 6-6 Six Rivers) 71-39 in a WIAA Division 5 regional semifinal last Friday.

The Warriors raced out to a 12-0 lead four minutes into the contest. Black Hawk's suffocating press created early turnovers to ignite the run. Bailey Butler and Hannah Butler each came up with a steal and fast break lay-in. That would be a trend as the Warriors had 17 steals.

"The problem is the five that they put on the floor play with such continuity, especially on defense that when one girl leaves to trap another girl is going to cover up for her," head coach Derik Doescher said. "I don't care what press break you come in here with you're going to have to be strong with the ball and read things."

Senior Haley Freitag broke the cold spell with an inside finish and knocked down a free throw to complete the three-point play. Junior Payton Zurfluh slashed to the rim for a bucket and buried two free throws after getting hammered on a putback attempt to make the score 17-7.

Black Hawk responded with a 20-2 run to take a commanding 37-9 lead late in the half. Natalie Leuzinger scored 11 points during the pivotal run including a left wing three. Bailey Butler torched the Comets with a transition layup off a turnover and converted down low. Black Hawk took a commanding 42-13 halftime lead.

The Comets started to get better shots in the second half. Junior Libby Beck hit two free throws after a post catch and Freitag went up through contact for a tough conversion. Albany caught fire from behind the arc connecting on three straight treys. Zurfluh buried two right wing threes and junior Megan Anderson dialed up a three off the dribble.

"We're down 30. Why pass up shots? It's better than turning the ball over so shoot the basketball," Doescher said. "They weren't playing with as much pressure as they did early. That's the class act that coach Flanagan is. I was proud of our effort in the second half."

The Warriors answered with an 11-0 run to go up 64-29 with seven minutes left. Bailey Butler drilled her fourth three of the game. Albany had no answer for the freshman sensation. Bailey Butler scored a game-high 22 points.

Zurfluh and Freitag each had 11 points to lead the Comets. Anderson contributed nine points on three three-pointers. The Comets knocked down five threes.

"Zurfluh did a really nice job running the show and has nothing to be upset about tonight. I thought she played well," Doescher said. "I don't think there's a better game for Freitag to end her career on. She played solid tonight."

The five seniors led a culture change this year. After just four wins in 2016-17, this group helped lead the charge to 10 wins this year. The Comets also saw an increase of four conference wins. Last year Albany got swept by Juda including a first round loss to the Panthers. This year the Comets swept Juda which included a first round playoff victory.

"They really have changed the culture of our youth basketball. Kids now expect to win and compete every night," Doescher said. "I think it was a positive step forward for our program."

"The senior class has really helped turn the program around. We're going to be a part of this program through it all," Freitag said.

"I just told our girls in the locker room that barring injuries or something disastrous, we just lost to the state champion because they're that good," Doescher said.

Green County Board Feb. meeting summary

By Erica Roth
24TH DISTRICT COUNTY BOARD SUPERVISOR

The Green County Board meeting on February 13 accomplished quite a bit of business. The agenda included eight resolutions and one ordinance.

The resolutions passed quickly, after explanations and questions; they included the approval of a new asphalt paver for the highway department, the disallowance of a notice of claim, the adoption of an "All Hazards Mitigation Plan Revision", the approval of an emergency service grant application, the joinder of Green County to the Wisconsin River Trail Transit Commission, the designation of county elected officers salaries, the approval of two Human Services contracts, and the approval of a fund transfer for a District Attorney Special Prosecutor.

The resolution designating the salaries of county elected officials concerns the salaries of the Sheriff, Clerk of Court, and Coroner. These salaries need to be established before papers are taken out by those wishing to run for those elected offices because the salaries cannot be changed during the term. Human Resources looked over the proposed salaries to ensure Green County is offering comparable compensation compared to other counties.

The resolution for the approval of a fund transfer requested by the District Attorney for a special prosecutor is in the amount of $10,000.

The amount will be transferred from the General Fund and will be used to retain special prosecutor Jeffery D. Kohl in the case of the State of Wisconsin vs. Casey J. Shelton, Green County Case Number 2007CF00068. Special Prosecutor Kohl will be assisting in defense of this prior court conviction.

The one ordinance that was considered at the February 13 County Board meeting was returned to the Finance Committee.

It will probably return to the County Board for consideration and a vote as early as the March 13 Green County Board meeting. This ordinance was for the modification of the official county newspaper.

Currently, the official county newspaper is the Brodhead Independent Register; the Monroe Times has petitioned the Green County Board through the Finance and Accounting Committee to change to the Monroe Times.

There were many unanswered questions during the board's discussion of this ordinance, causing the motion for it to be returned to the committee for further research.

If you have thoughts or concerns regarding this decision, please contact your County Board Supervisor. There is legislature at the state level currently being discussed about removing all requirements for print notices and requiring publishing public notices on websites only.

I have concerns about this due to rural broadband issues and limited accessibility. I also have concerns about which paper will be the most accessible to the residents of Green County; there are state statutes to be considered as well.

Discussion was divided among the supervisors. If you feel strongly or have an opinion, please contact your supervisor. Supervisor contact information can be found on the Green County website at www.co.green.wi.gov.

Fury punch ticket to Sectional semis with overtime victory

The one-seed Rock County Fury bested five-seed Metro Lynx on Feb. 20 in the sectional semi-finals of girls high school hockey in the WIAA.

Alyssa Knauf got the Fury on the scoreboard first, assisted by Haley Knauf and Anika Einbeck. The Lynx responded with a goal of their own. At the end of the first period Maggy Henschler lit the lamp on a pass from Haley Knauf.

At the top of the second period, Maggy Henschler fed the net with assists from Anika Einbeck and Haley Knauf, who had three assists on the game.

The Fury found themselves in a bit of penalty trouble in the second and third periods, allowing the Lynx to score two times to tie the game at 3-3.

In sudden death overtime, Henschler's shot was deflected by the Lynx goalie, and Fury forward Zoie Steig caught the rebound and shot past the goalie, giving the Fury a 4-3 victory.

The Fury traveled to Madison Ice Arena to take on the Cap City Cougars in the Sectional Championship game last Saturday.

Fury lose tight match in Madison

After splitting two encounters with the Cap City Cougars during the regular season, the Fury faced them again in the Sectional Championship on Saturday.

The Fury dominated the offensive zone in the first period as they outshot the Cougars 13-6, while the teams entered the second period scoreless.

The second period did not go the Fury's way, as the Cougars found the back of the net twice in the second period. The Cougars fed the net again at the top of the third, but the Fury rallied and scored two power play goals from seniors Maggy Henschler and Dani Heitsman.

Earning assists on the plays were Heitsman, Ally Burke, and Henschler. The Fury fought hard, but the clock ran out, and the game ended 3-2 with the Cougars advancing to state.

The Fury finished with an overall record of 21-4-2, and a conference record of 9-1.

AARP Safe Drive Course coming to Monroe and Brodhead

Why take a driver safety course?

Cars have changed. So have traffic rules, driving conditions and the roads you travel every day.

Some drivers age 50-plus have never looked back since they got their first driver's license, but even the most experienced drivers can benefit from refreshing their driving skills.

By taking a driver refresher course you'll learn the current rules of the road, defensive driving techniques and how to operate your vehicle more safely in today's increasingly challenging driving environment. You'll learn how you can manage and accommodate common age-related changes in vision, hearing and reaction time. In addition, you'll learn:

- Research-based safety strategies that can reduce the likelihood of having a crash
- Proper use of seat belts, air bags, antilock brakes and new technology found in cars today

- Ways to monitor your own and others' driving skills and capabilities

- The effects of medications on driving
- The importance of eliminating distractions, such as eating, smoking and using a cellphone

After completing the course, you will have a greater appreciation of driving challenges and a better understanding of how to avoid potential collisions and injuring yourself or others.

About the course

The AARP Smart Driver™ course, offered by AARP Driver Safety, is the nation's first and largest refresher course designed specifically for drivers age 50 and older.

For more than 35 years, the course has taught over 16 million drivers proven safety strategies so they can continue driving safely for as long as possible. Courses are offered in both English and Spanish in either a traditional classroom setting taught by more than 4,000 AARP-trained volunteers, or through an interactive online course that may be taken from your home computer at your own pace Classes available in Brodhead on Wednesday, March 7, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, 501 First Center Ave Brodhead, WI. Please call church at 608-897-2515 to register.

End Child Poverty

BY REV. ANDY TWITON

I first heard about the End Child Poverty campaign at an annual meeting for the Wisconsin Council of Churches (WCC). At that meeting, I learned that 1 in 5 children in Wisconsin live in poverty. Furthermore, according to the Wisconsin Council on Children and Families (recently renamed Kids Forward), childhood poverty is increasing in Wisconsin faster than the national rate.

I also learned that the American Academy of Pediatrics has documented significant consequences of poverty for child and adolescent well-being, including: academic performance, high school graduation rates, risky behaviors, and physical health. Addressing the well-being of our children affects all of us, since these children will be the future leaders and workers in the state where we live.

In response, the Wisconsin Council of Churches has teamed up with the interfaith organization WID-SOM and the civic groups Kids Forward and Citizen Action. In other words, this campaign is truly a team effort with a broad base of support. The WCC alone includes 18 Christian denominations.

Together they have committed themselves to a straight-forward campaign: "The people of Wisconsin need to set a goal of cutting childhood poverty by half in the next ten years. To guarantee greater equity, we also need to cut racial disparities in childhood poverty in half. These goals need to be accompanied by a commitment to evidence-based evaluation of progress."

Part of what I appreciate about this goal is that it commits itself to outcomes rather than to specific policies. It sets a goal and then calls all of us to work together to find a solution.

Ideas can come from a Democrat, Republican, Independent, or anything in-between. As long as it does something to address child poverty and can be demonstrated by evidence, it doesn't matter where the idea comes from. Instead of sitting across from each other, we sit side-by-side in front of a shared problem.

We all know we live in increasingly polarizing times. Even things that used to be fairly neutral have been drawn into our growing divide.

Perhaps you've been at a few awkward family meals where politics came up. Or perhaps you've unfriended a few people on social media because of their partisan posts. Some seem to cheer for their political side as if they were the Green Bay Packers playing the Chicago Bears.

If anything we should be cheering for the whole country or the well-being of the world, rather than "victory" of one side over the other.

How do we move past the polarization towards positive action? How do we get unstuck and move forward?

It's tempting to want to withdraw, but we also know we have a responsibility to each other. I am my brother's and my sister's keeper. (See Genesis 4 for a story of the opposite.) Furthermore we are commanded to love our neighbor as ourselves. I am to care for the lonely elderly person, even if they are not my grandpa or grandma. I am to care for the hungry child, even if they are not my child. I am to care for the homeless refugee, even if they speak a different language than me.

This is also more than an individual or private responsibility. For instance, Psalm 72 names care for the poor as an essential quality of a good ruler and good government.

In Matthew 25, we are told Jesus will judge the nations based on their treatment of the least of these - the hungry, the thirsty, the foreigner, the sick and naked, and those in prison. (See the Old Testament prophets for more examples of the whole nation being held accountable for injustice.)

In other words, the whole community, acting through its laws and governing authorities, is responsible for ordering society in a just and loving way.

If we are to move forward, it seems to me that we need to recover a sense that we are all in this together. The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. once said, "We may have all come on different ships, but we're in the same boat now."

This is partially why I feel compelled to support the End Child Poverty campaign. It's an effort to cut through the noise and focus on a common goal. If we can't always agree on the policies, can we at least agree the problem of child poverty needs to be address? And if we can agree on the problem, can we agree to only pursue policies that have some kind of evidence to prove they work?

Currently, End Child Poverty is trying to collect 10,000 names in support of their goal. You can add your name at www.endchildpovertywi.org.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at an election to be held in the County of Green, on Tuesday, April 3, 2018, the following question will be submitted to a vote of the people:

On January 10, 2010, in *Citizens
United v. Federal Elections Commission*, the United States Supreme Court held that political spending is a form of protected speech under the First Amendment and the government may not keep corporations or unions from spending money to support or denounce individual candidates in elections. While corporations or unions may not give money directly to campaigns, they may seek to persuade the voting public through other means, including advertisements. Shall Green County support passage of an amendment to the United States Constitution stating the following:

1. Only human beings — not corporations, unions, nonprofits or other legal entities — are endowed with constitutional rights, and 2. Money is not speech, and therefore regulating political contributions and spending is not equivalent to limiting political speech.

the submission of the question can

Extensive flooding throughout Green County

State of Emergency declared

Green County Emergency Management continues to access the damages caused by the flooding throughout the county this week.

Tanna McKeon, director, reports that the flooding damaged many county and town roads have been damaged. At the height of the flooding almost ten roads were either fully or partially closed and many others had water running across them.

Fire departments from Brown-town and Brodhead, along with Green County Sheriff's Deputies, found themselves making emergency water rescues when several cars went around barricades and floated off the roadway.

This is an extremely dangerous situation and Swift Water Rescue Teams from the South Beloit/City of Beloit, Grant and Lafayette Counties deployed to the Brodhead Fire Department and remained there for over 24 hours in case other water rescues occurred.

Many county resources were being expended responding to the flooding and Art Carter, county chair, in conjunction with Green Co. Emergency Management, issued a Declaration of a State of Emergency.

McKeon said doing so opens up state resources and possible sources of funding for municipalities and residents to recover from the flooding.

Residents and businesses are encouraged to report damages from the flooding and should call their village or city clerks or Green County Emergency Management at 608-328-9416 to report damages.

By Feb. 23, two roads remain closed, MM/Smock Valley Road, and County T. Motorists are reminded that it is illegal to go around barricades and they will be ticketed.

It is impossible to tell how deep the water is or the condition of the road bed. Only a foot or two of water can sweep away most vehicles, including large four-wheel drive cars.

Issue 15 • February 27, 2018
Transparency Part Deux
trans-par-en-cy [tran'sperənsē], noun: The condition of being transparent.

In local government transparency goes a long way to build trust with citizens. Information should not only be easily accessible it should be easily understood. For instance take the city's budget - line after line, column after column of dizzying numbers and meaningless titles... at least that's the way most of us see it. If, however, that data is put into an easy to understand format a whole new level of understanding is achieved by all.

Let's try the simple "Pie Chart". The pie chart below is showing actual data taken from the city budget for last year. Take a minute and look it over.

This is the kind of transparency you can expect of me as your mayor. Whether it's via newspaper, social media, broadcast radio, or at city hall, keeping folks informed and current will be of paramount priority. My name is Tim Stocks and I want to be your next mayor.

Paid for by the Committee to Elect Tim Stocks Mayor.
