Anna Z's Yeasty Yummies add to farmers market fare

By Tony Ends
EDITOR

Brodhead doesn't have a farmer's market. Yet a pleasant country ride over to New Glarus on Friday afternoons, this summer finds nearly a score of vendors selling just about every food imaginable.

Fresh vegetables and berries, jams and pickles, brats and burgers, soap and woolen goods – all from local producers, including a couple each from Brodhead and Albany. They grow it, raise it, process it. They drive it in from all around to the parking lot of Hometown Pharmacy on Highway 69.

Gently, they lay all their hard work out on tables under tents they've purchased and wait for customers from 3 p.m. till 6:30 p.m.

Among these local growers and producers now are home bakers, thanks to a court ruling last year. A Lafayette District Court judge's decision in a civil suit brought against the state permits individuals who bake cookies, pies and bread for loved ones, to sell limited quantities of the same in farmers' markets.

Anna Zettle, who farms with husband Ivan on a 3rd generation dairy farm south of Monroe, is giving baking for a farmers market a try.

"I don't want this to become a job," Zettle said in an interview in her farmhouse kitchen before market day in New Glarus last week. "I really like baking."

"I began cooking in 4-H when I was 10 years old – the Foods and Nutrition Project.

"Maybel Maier was the adult leader. She would have 10 or 12 girls all into her kitchen. The older ones would be making a main dish, the young ones cookies and the middle-age kids baking cakes."

From learning to love cooking and baking as a child member of the Clarino (township) Classy Clubbers, Zettle carried into adulthood an appreciation for handcrafting foods with quality ingredients. She's been testing out recipes for farmers market with her adult sons now taste testing.

"I can usually get a real, honest answer out of the youngest one, Jason," she said. "He told me, 'Whatever you do with those cinnamon rolls, don't screw with that recipe!'

She makes some of those rolls with raisins, others without. Some baking has been from a memory of her grandmother, who incorporated apricot jam into her baking. Zettle uses dried apricots from California, not Turkish ones she says taste like chemicals.

Market-goers on Fridays in New Glarus must like them; they've bought up the baked goods with apricots, and Zettle has yet to try her own creation.

Chocolate cookies with macadamia nuts, sea salt and caramel chips – a baker's dozen for $5. Oatmeal sandwich cookies with Lotus Biscoff spread from Belgium – six cookie sandwiches for $5.

Russian black bread and marbled rye, loaves of whole wheat and spelt. Zettle sources grain from Pilgrim's Pantry on State Highway 11 near South Wayne, or from another specialty farm source. She grinds the wheat berries into flour in her kitchen.

In New Glarus Farmers Markets on Fridays, she's selling large bread loaves for $7, small ones for $4.

"I want to make something from my sales, but I don't want to gouge people," Zettle said. "My goal is to make enough money from baking that I can buy two plane tickets to see my sister Barbara in France next year."

"I just think it's wonderful I can do this now because of the court ruling. I've wanted for years to do this, but I didn't want to be slapped with a fine. I'm sure my baking and selling six loaves of bread a week isn't going to run some big company out of business."

The Zetters stopped milking their own cows in 2010. They're taking care of a neighbor's 78 heifers at their place, but they've rented out their cropland. The "change in lifestyle" is letting Anna Zettle experiment with home baking.

Orfordville may trade cell service for police cameras' use

FROM STAFF AND CLERK REPORTS

Orfordville water tower may be getting a new high-speed internet tenant, pending legal review of the village attorney.

Village trustees tentatively approved a proposal from Sonic based in Durand, Ill., contingent on the legal review at their regular board meeting last Monday, June 25.

Village police committee members recommended the full board approve a Sonic proposal to exchange use of five wireless cameras from Sonic for Orfordville police to monitor parks and village property. This arrangement will be in lieu of Sonic's paying to rent connection atop the village water tower.

A.J. Becker from Sonic Internet was present at the meeting last week on behalf of his company. Becker said Sonic will service and maintain the cameras for a 5-year term as part of the exchange with the village to let Sonic use the tower.

Village trustee Dan Bartelt asked before the board vote in its meeting last week where the video from the cameras will be stored. Becker said the information is stored on the Sonic servers.

Bartelt asked if the cameras are backed up. Becker said they are backed up regularly and stored for 9 to 14 days, based on how often the cameras are motion activated.

Bartelt asked if the cameras are infrared, and Becker confirmed that they are.

Village Attorney Tim Lindau asked who owns the equipment Sonic wants to provide Orfordville Police. Becker said Sonic does. Lindau told the village trustees he needed time to review the contract, but that the Village can approve the arrangement with Sonic contingent on the contract being approved.

Trustee Jason Knox motioned tentative approval of the arrangement with Sonic pending legal contract review. Bartelt seconded approve, and the motion carried.

Rise Broadband High Speed Internet based in Rockford presently rents Orfordville water tower use for $2400 per year, according to Village Clerk Sherri Waeger.

Surveillance cameras, which are also used in the Village of Albany and in Durand, will increase police presence without hiring additional law enforcement personnel.

Village trustees present with Bartelt and Knox last week were Beth Schmidt and Gary Phillips. Absent were President David Olsen and Terry Gerber.

In other business last week, as Waeger reported in meeting minutes, the village trustees voted to grant the following licenses:

Jim and Diane Kallas drove this stunning '46 Ford Tudor down from Belleville for the 15th annual Lions Club auto show held June 24 in Albany.

Classic cars draw crowds to cities, villages – big and small

By Tony Ends

EDITOR

Albany Lions Club's 15th annual classic auto show made a lot of people happy this year.

More than 800 spectators turned out under fair skies, according to organizer Abe Runaas. It was a warm Sunday in June, but not the blazing 96 degrees that hit southern Wisconsin as the month tended into July.

More than 250 classic vehicle owners from 22 clubs converged on the Albany Lions property just north of the village. Yet about 15 vehicle owners didn't register, spoiling what would have been a record number of entries.

The club with the most registered participants was XLR8.

"We gave out $2,825 in cash prizes to car owners," Runaas said, giving a rundown after the show, regarding registered entry fees. "It shows the participants that we appreciate them and all the work they put into restoring and maintain classic cars and trucks.

"The event also raises money from food and beverage sales for the work of the Lions Club," Runaas said.

Richard Potter drove the farthest this year to enter the Albany show, with a 1982 AMC Eagle from Seattle, Wash. Tom Upham, of Janesville's 1957 Studebaker Silver Hawk was the Dairy Queen Pick.

Jim and Diane Kallas drove their stunning '46 Ford Tudor down from Belleville for the show in Albany.

They bought the Tudor 10 years ago and towed it home from Kearney, Neb. It is a stunning Ferrari red, with a shine that would have cost, at $86 a pint for paint, thousands of dollars to have painted in an auto body shop.

"It has '59 Caddy taillights, a 350 Chevy engine, air, tilt steering wheel, stereo," Jim said, describing just a few of the beautiful car's feature for the Independent Register. "We belong to the Good Guys Rod and Custom Association in Pleasanton, Calif., and the National Street Rod Association." Jim said, Started in 1983, Good Guys now claims 70,000 members, and draws anywhere from 30,000 to 100,000 spectators to single events among 20 events it hosts annually around the United States.

Brodhead's classic car and motorcycle show was held last year during the Covered Bridge Days and Wildflower Festival, from a full venue of activities at the city's south end of town.

The show is listed again on the Chamber of Commerce's promotional literature and website for the event upcoming. This year Covered Bridge Days and the festival will be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 11 and 12.

Albany will host another event one weekend before that – the Lion's Pig Out – from 5 to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 4.

Local beef and cheese featured in tasty Green County contest

By Noreen Rueckert

GREEN COUNTY TOURISM

"Is this an actual cheese curd?"

Green County Beef Queen Ali Rosheisen just took a bite of a cheeseburger at Buggyworks Pub in Monroe.

Green County Cheese Days Ambassador Tess Zettle confirmed it.

The "I Curd You Like Bacon" burger was indeed topped with a trio of deep-fried cheese curds.

But there was more: thick cut bacon, cheddar cheese, lettuce and tomato, all tucked into a soft pretzel roll. The pair was conducting an official taste test in their roles promoting the local beef industry and the upcoming Cheese Days festival.

Owner Jeff Ewald created the burger as Buggywork's entry in this year's Best Cheeseburger Contest sponsored by the Green County Beef Producers.

Rosheisen and Zettle met up recently to talk (and taste) cheeseburgers – with the categories of beef and cheese being key to their respective promotional efforts.

Rosheisen's family lives on a farm near Brodhead raising Angus and crossbreed steers. Her favorite in the herd is a cow named Cherry that she'll be showing this year at the Green County Fair.

In September she returns to UW Platteville where she will be a sophomore majoring in Animal Science. As Beef Queen she appears in parades, works at food stands, and assists with promotion of the popular cheeseburger contest.

Zettle grew up on her family's small dairy farm just south of Juda, and continues to be actively involved with the herd. She holds a degree in Animal Science from UW Platteville with an emphasis in Dairy, and a minor in Public Relations.

Zettle is employed with Kuhn North America in Brodhead as Administrator in the Product Management Department.

For Rosheisen, the ideal burger is pretty basic – just top it with cheese. Zettle prefers a burger with the traditional "salad" toppings – lettuce, tomato and pickle. Both agree that catsup is the condiment of choice.

With so many kinds of local cheese to choose from, this year's contest entries vary significantly from restaurant to restaurant.

S'Wisco Taphaus in New Glarus flies the Swiss flag by adding a layer of Gruyere cheese. Friendly Inn in Monroe has social media buzzing by trading out the bun for a Krispy Kreme donut. Turner Hall of Monroe heats up the challenge with their Fiery Ghost Pepper Burger.

In keeping with a tradition established a few years back, Zettle and some co-workers at Kuhn have again been checking out the contest entries as a group.

Brodhead has four participating locations, so those were among the first burgers they tried. Zettle really liked the Bucky Burger from Jordy's M&J Bar and Grill – which features a slice of ham plus onion rings and secret sauce – but she's betting on the Bridges Bar and Grill Burger to be a contender in the contest. "They've got a good 'bar burger'

year round."

Rosheisen is betting on last year's winner Papa Don's Horseshoe Saloon, Monroe, to come out on top again. She heard they're pulling out all the stops with their epic "Dream Burger 2.0."

There are nearly 20 participating locations throughout the county. Voting goes on through the end of July, and the contest culminates with awards and prizes at the association's annual "Steak-Out" Dinner at the Green County Fairgrounds on Aug. 16.

Anyone who tries at least five burgers is eligible for prizes; and those sampling 15 or more will be entered in the grand prize drawing.

For more information and a complete list of all the burgers and locations, go to Green County Beef Producers on Facebook.

Keeping in step with Green County government in summer

By Erica Roth

COUNTY BOARD SUPERVISOR

July is upon us, and with the Independence Day holiday comes a few changes in the County Board committee meeting schedules.

Many of the committees meet on a regular schedule, but sometimes the occurrence of a holiday mixes things up a bit.

For instance, the Land and Water Conservation Committee will be meeting on the second Thursday of July, the Agriculture and Extension Education Committee will not meet in July, There's more. The best way to know when and where meetings are happening is to go to the Green County website at www.co.green.wi.gov.

Another meeting change of note is

Ice Party is fun not chill at Albertson Memorial Library in Albany

Albertson Memorial Library invites young children and their caregivers to an Ice Party on Wednesday, July 18 from 3 to 4 p.m.

All ages of children are welcome.

This fun, hands-on program will give children the chance to play and experiment with ice.

The program will be indoor or outdoor, depending on weather. Dress in clothes you don't mind getting a little bit wet.

This is a drop-in program with no required registration. Questions? Call the library at 608-862-3491 or email albanypl@tds.net.

Albertson Memorial Library is located at 200 N. Water St. in Albany.

the July County Board meeting.

At this time, there is not enough business to hold a full board meeting this month. Thus, the next County Board meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 14, at 7 p.m.

There is still a lot of activity around the Green County Livestock Facility Study Group Report and Recommendations.

With seven committees and the board being identified as the main stakeholders for the recommendations, there is a lot of work ahead for the committees and departments.

The following departments are working on the recommendations: Land & Water Conservation, Health, Land Use & Zoning, Highway, Land Information, Sheriff, and UW-Extension.

Most of these committees have begun working through the recommendations. The first step in evaluating the recommendations is evaluating the legality of them.

Regardless of how good the recommendation is, county board of supervisors together with appointed staff and legal counsel must ask whether the county has the power to enforce the measure designed to protect health, safety, the environment and the county's resources.

I represent District 24 - the Town of Albany and the southeast portion of Brooklyn Township. You can reach me at 608-371-9074 or EricaRothGreenCountyBoard@gmail.com.

The recommendations themselves are posted to the Green County UW-Extension site at www.green.uwex.edu/livestock-facility-study/.

Land and Water Conservation committee members will be discussing recommendations concerning permitting and fees, operations ordinances, and manure storage at their next meeting.

The meeting will be held Thursday July 12, at 9:30 a.m. at the USDA Service Center in Monroe. The Livestock Facility Study Group recommendations have the potential to affect everyone in the county and I encourage all to read them and be informed of the possible changes.

Your County Board Supervisor represents you. He or she can represent you better when you have contact with them. Contact information can be found on the Green County website.

I represent District 24 - the Town of Albany and the southeast portion of Brooklyn Township. You can reach me at 608-371-9074 or EricaRothGreenCountyBoard@gmail.com.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Green County Dairy Days announces awards

Green County Dairy Days presented this year's awards – a plaque for each of three categories – during a dairy brunch held in the Monticello School gym.

The contest is open to any AG/Business Woman or Couple who are an active part of any dairy operation or business, for contestants who live and/or work in Green County.

Contestants must also have buildings located in the school districts or villages in Green County. Previous winners are not eligible.

The contest is divided into three divisions: Agri-business Woman under age 40; Agri-business Woman over age 40; and Oldest Active Farm Couple.

Amy Dammen, of Argyle was the 2017 Senior Ag Business Woman. She and her husband, Gary, have owned and operated their 70-cow dairy for around 25 years.

They have three children, Katie, Amber and Mitchell. Other than the many day-to-day chores on the farm, Amy is responsible for raising all the young stock. She completes all the calf chores before and after school, as she is the 4K teacher also for the Argyle School District.

Amy is also responsible for all of the bookwork and management of the farm. Up until this year, all three of their children were active showing their registered heifers at the county, state and national levels. Amy was a huge supporter and always helped out with anything extra during the summer.

Their family is involved with the Green County Junior Holstein Association and the Dougherty Creek 4H club, where Amy helped lead many events held by both organizations.

Amy is also a board member at the Adams Lutheran Church. She enjoys spending time with family and friends, teaching 4K, and attending fairs and shows even though her children are too old now to participate.

Carmen Montgomery, of Argyle, was named 2017 Junior Ag Business Woman. Carmen is married to Clint and they have 3 young children, Hayden, Faith and Nora. Clint and Carmen farm, as part of Whiteside Farms LLC, with Clint's sister, Heidi Ganshert, and parents, Lee and Tammy Montgomery. They milk 150 cows and own 400 acres and run 800 crop acres.

Carmen attended UW Platteville where she majored in Agriculture Education and graduated in May 2008. She taught at Monroe High School as the Ag Teacher until she started at Badgerland in 2013 where she is a full time crop insurance specialist.

Carmen is active in many area ag related organizations including Green County Farm Bureau, Yellowstone 4H Club, Argyle FFA Alumni Club, and helps with Rural Safety Days in Lafayette County. She also loves spending time with her family and friends, going antique shopping, being outdoors.

Larry and Linda Disch, of New Glarus, was the 2017 Oldest Active Dairy Couple. Larry and Linda milk 47 cows and also do the fieldwork. They have 95 acres and have a total of 80 head of cattle. They belong to the National & State Holstein Association and DHIA. They have received awards for outstanding somatic cell count. In their spare time, Larry likes to hunt, and Linda likes to cook. Larry and Linda have 3 grown children and 6 grandsons.

Paige Dilley is the 2018 Junior Ag Business Woman. Agriculture is very important to Paige and it has played an important role in her life. Paige has shown cattle for 11 years. Paige has showed cattle at Dairy Days, Green County Fair, Wisconsin State Fair, District Shows and the World Dairy Expo.

When Paige was in FFA she was an officer, on the Dairy Judging Team, placed 3rd individual on the State Soils competition, and was a member of the State Qualifying Dairy Judging team.

Paige is currently a Senior at UW Platteville and will graduate in December. Agriculture Business is her major with a minor in Animal Science and Spanish.

While at UW Platteville, Paige is involved in Pioneer Day Club, Secretary of the Collegiate Farm Bureau, and the President of National Agri-Marketing Association. Her NAMA team place 6th in nationwide competition.

This year Paige was the Chairperson of the Green County Dairy Days cattle show. According to a committee member Bryan Voegeli, "She took care of everything and did it with great enthusiasm and with that never ending smile on her face."

Sally Roe is the 2018 Senior Ag Business Woman. Sally holds a Bachelor of Science with an Associates Degree in Accounting. Sally and her husband Dan, along with Donald Roe, own and operate Pleasant Grain, LLC in Monticello and Monroe. Sally and Dan have three children. Sally's essential role is handling all of the daily financial record-keeping, computer logistics, operation compliance, and all tax preparation at all 3 Pleasant Grain LLC locations. Sally also helps customers with all grain transactions, like delivery, settlements, and pricing on a daily basis. She is also willing to help whenever needed for smooth logistic operations during planting, field prep and harvesting. Besides the farming operation, Sally is also the key to keeping the family of 5 on task with sporting events, Brown Swiss State shows, fair animals (cows, pigs & dog obedience), numerous 4H activities and projects, school functions and activities. Sally is a member of the Zwingli UCC, co-leader of Washington Center 4H club, and on the Adult Leader Budget Committee. She is the interim President of the Monticello Chamber of Commerce. In addition, Sally served on the Dairy Days Committee this year. In Sally's spare time you will find her surrounded by family. They enjoy fishing, boating, vacationing with friends, or just relaxing around the farm. Sally enjoys gardening, landscaping, helping at and attending local festivals, watching her children's various sporting activities and taking care of their small Brown Swiss herd along with the family dog, Charlie. She gives countless hours of service to bettering her local and county community especially for her children and other youth.

J. Donald and Susan Halverson are the 2018 Oldest Active Dairy Couple. Both Don and Susan are actively involved in their dairy operations outside of Monticello. They help daily from working with the cows to helping feed calves. Additionally, Don manages the fieldwork and Susan delivers many lunches throughout the spring, summer, and fall. Don has 4 grown children. Family is very important to both Don and Susan. Both Don and Susan are active members of the Zwingli United Church of Christ. Susan is an avid support of the Red Cross.

Sand County Foundation, FFA Partner for Pollinators

Pollinator curriculum guide available to teachers

Something special took root on a grassy strip between a Wisconsin wheat field and stream during National Pollinator Week.

A small group of FFA members and leaders brought trays of pollinator-friendly plants to a local farmer. Together they dug holes for native prairie plants that will sustain imperiled insect pollinators and monarch caterpillars.

The scene outside of Clinton, a small, rural town in southern Wisconsin's Rock County, is part of a national effort to establish pollinator habitat.

Insect pollinators and monarchs, essential for crop pollination and ecological diversity, are at risk partly due to loss of farmland habitat.

In response, Sand County Foundation partnered with the Monarch Joint Venture to establish a pollinator habitat grant program for high schools.

The program supplies seed and other growing materials to high school agricultural and science departments. Students then grew native wildflowers in school greenhouses to be planted in rural areas.

Green Power North America Inc. in Minnesota, and We Energies Foundation in Wisconsin sponsored the pilot program.

These organizations also sponsored a Pollinator Habitat Curriculum Guide for Midwestern high school educators. Created by the University of Wisconsin's Earth Partnership and aligned with Common Core and Next Generation Science standards, the guide contains a set of activities appropriate for establishing, managing and monitoring habitat for monarchs, insect pollinators and grassland birds.

One of the Wisconsin participants in the pollinator habitat grant program was Marlina Jackson, who teaches agriculture and plant science at Clinton High School, a small, rural town near the Wisconsin-Illinois state line.

"For farm kids to see the relevance of planting pollinators is big," said Jackson. "The application was easy to fill out and Sand County Foundation was great to work with."

Finding a home for the plants was easy. Local farmer Gary Sommers, is a Clinton FFA Alumni member who has implemented several conservation projects to increase soil health and wildlife habitat.

"I thought this would be a good hands-on experience for the kids," said Sommers, who grows 1,200 acres of corn, soybeans and winter wheat in Rock County.

For the planting he chose a scenic, five-acre filter strip enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program that he mows occasionally and conducts controlled burns to combat box elder trees and other invasive plants.

On an overcast Wednesday that fell during National Pollinator Week (June 18-24), pollinator-friendly red milkweed, compass plants, rattlesnake master, blazing stem and pale purple coneflower were reintroduced to the landscape.

Corn and soybean are king in Rock County thanks to its rich soils and mostly flat landscape. Dave Gundlach, the county's USDA-NRCS conservationist, describes Sommers as an early adopter of conservation practices.

Sommers experiments with cover crops (red clover, buckwheat, burseem clover, tillage radish, oats and cereal rye) to bolster his soil's health. All of his cropland is enrolled in the federal Conservation Stewardship Program. Hilly and wetland areas enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program have become a magnet for deer and songbirds.

Last year Sommers converted another 10 acres of highly-erodible farmland into a pollinator area. At the intersection of two waterways its layout was a challenge to farm. Most agricultural crops rely on pollinators, so their presence can provide economic gain and ecological benefits.

"He's a good role model for these kids who someday may be taking over farms in this area," Gundlach said.

Sommers mentors conservation practices to a young farmer to whom he rents some land. Aside from that, most of his public outreach takes place at the coffee shop or over the fence line.

"It's one person to the next. People see that what he's doing is working and it spreads from there," Gundlach added.

Sand County Foundation is a national non-profit that champions voluntary conservation practices by farmers and ranchers to improve soil, water and wildlife habitat.

Along with the pollinator habitat program with high schools, Sand County Foundation works with rural landowners to plant prairie filter strips within farm fields. These pollinator habitats serve double-duty, also protecting water quality.

Sand County Foundation is a member of the Monarch Joint Venture, which offers information on establishing monarch and pollinator habitat. For more on the foundation's pollinator efforts, visit www.sandcountyfoundation.org/pollinator.

About the foundation

Sand County Foundation is the nation's leading voice for private conservation. Based in Madison, the non-profit organization is dedicated to working with private landowners to advance the use of ethical and scientifically sound land management practices that benefit the environment.

Stripe Brodhead Street

Chairman Phillips explained that they would like to stripe West Brodhead Street to slow down traffic. Director of Public Works Karl Stuvengen said the cost to stripe North Main Street was $4,200. Stuvengen said West Brodhead Street is not as long as North Main, so it should be a little cheaper. Motion by Schmidt, seconded by Knox to stripe West Brodhead Street and to finish the portion of North Main Street that was covered with chip seal. Motion carried.

Restrict Parking

Motion by Knox, seconded by Bartelt to accept the Public Works Recommendation to amend Ordinance 304-21 to restrict parking on the north side of the 100 block of E. Spring Street and also at 106 N. Center St. South to Highway 213 from midnight to 6 a.m. Motion carried. Clerk Waege did not include the downtown block on the agenda so that portion will be on the July 9 agenda.

Yard Waste Site Hours

Chairman Phillips said the pile is huge and staff doubt that much brush is from the village. Chairman Phillips further said it is too costly to have the pile chipped. The village has a chipper, but it cannot keep up with a pile that large.

Phillips said the village is at the point of having to close the yard waste site if it continues to accumulate that much brush.

Motion by Bartelt, seconded by Schmidt to accept the Public Works recommendation to change the hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays and 8 a.m. to noon on Mondays and to have a part-time Public Works employee present during the open hours to verify residency for those bringing in brush, effective July 7. Motion carried.

Stuvengen explained aspects of the annual Compliance Maintenance Manual for the Wastewater Treatment Plant. Motion by Schmidt, seconded by Bartelt to adopt Resolution R-2018-07 the annual Compliance Maintenance Report. Motion carried.

Motion by Schmidt, seconded by Knox to adopt Resolution R-2018-08 to recognize the 100th anniversary of the passing of Kenneth S. Wells. Motion carried.

tion carried.

Town of Plymouth

Attorney Lindau said a board member of the Town of Plymouth has asked whether the village would write ordinance violations for the town. The board member further requested that the citations be included with the Orfordville Municipal Court. Attorney Lindau said he is not looking for action yet as it is very early in the process and there is a lot to do to make it happen. Lindau said he spoke with Stuvengen before the meeting about the Sanitation District in the town of Plymouth. Lindau said the town is looking for someone to do their sampling. Stuvengen and Lindau will look into it further. No action was taken.

Vouchers

Motion by Knox, seconded by Schmidt to approve the vouchers for General Fund for $37,260.90 (including $15,777.00 for Burris Equipment and $10,054.40 for Central States). Motion carried.

Pedal for Paws benefit ride helps Green County society protect animals

Summer is a fun time to support Green County Humane Society and its mission for animal welfare in public service to both Green and Lafayette counties.
