Juda's Next Generation 4-H Club hosts Thanksgiving meal

The kitchen downstairs in Monroe's Grace Lutheran Church bustled with activity the afternoon of Nov. 24. As the fourth Sunday, it was the day of the monthly Loaves and Fishes community dinner and, naturally, November's served as a Thanksgiving feast. This month's sponsor was Next Generation 4-H Club from Juda, led by Debbie Myers.

She took the lead in the kitchen Sunday, as Next Generation 4-H prepared to welcome up to 200 people, larger than the Loaves and Fishes usual crowd of around 125 to 130 people – about 100 guests and roughly 30 volunteers. “We’ve have hosted these meals before,” said Myers of her group, the largest 4-H club in Green County. “But we’ve never taken on such a huge undertaking as Thanksgiving,” she said. “We took it as a challenge when the opportunity came open. In just its sixth year, Myers said the club has 122 members and more than 50 adult leaders. “We’re big enough to do this,” she said.

In order to sponsor this meal — as well as giving back in other ways like donating blankets to hospice and dog toys to the humane society — the club fundraisers all year. “We feel honored to be asked to help when we get the call from organizations that need our assistance.” “Whatever we can do to help, that’s what we do,” said Myers.

All told on Sunday the club prepared 55 pounds of turkey and 45 pounds of homemade mashed potatoes, along with stuffing, corn, squash, marshmallow fruit salad and rolls, accompanied by five gallons of cranberry sauce and two gallons of gravy. They also bought 12 pumpkin pies and three half-sheet cakes for dessert. About 175 to 180 people were served, with just a little bit of food left over.

“It takes an awesome crew to handle a meal like this to make sure that everyone comes away with a good experience. We have that type of ‘crew’ in the Next Generation 4-H Club,” commented Myers.

Next Generation 4-H volunteer Michelle Hanson adds milk to a tray of mashed potatoes. There were 45 pounds of potatoes prepared for this month’s dinner, and there wasn’t much left over.

Josie Hanson, 7, right, and her cousin Dylan Fiez, 8, both of Monroe, were on duty scraping finished plates to ready them for washing.

Pat Hamilton, left, of Monroe, adds whipped cream to slices of pumpkin pie so Jacklyn Kubly, 9, also of Monroe, can serve them to guests.

SENIOR LUNCHEON

The Senior Citizen Luncheon will be on Dec. 11 from 1-3 p.m. in the Juda Pit Gym. Invitations have been sent out in the mail, and if you were invited, please RSVP by Dec. 7 by calling 608-934-5251, Extension 200. The luncheon will feature the High School Band and Choir and Bingo games.

MASONIC TEMPLE SPAGHETTI DINNER

The Masonic Temple will be hosting a Spaghetti Dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m., in the cafeteria. Pre-purchased tickets for an adult will be $5, and children will be $3. At the door prices for adults will be $6, and children will be $4. Tickets can be purchased at the school office.

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

The senior of the week this week is Sarah Farias. Her favorite high school memories are going on class field trips and lunch conversations. Her favorite teacher is Mrs. Elmer because she’s caring and always there to talk to. Sarah’s future plans are to get a degree in Psychology Education and help impoverished children get the help they need. Her favorite school lunch is sack lunch. If she won the lottery, she would get nice apartments in Chicago and New York, a cabin in Maine, and put the rest in the bank and into stocks. If she could live in one U.S. state for the rest of her life, it would be Maine because of the beautiful scenery and the weather.

MATH DEPARTMENT

The two day week proved to be a review week for all math classes except for engineering and calculus. Engineering is beginning to work on green initiatives to reduce the school’s utilities cost. Calculus is continuing to work with related rates and the second derivative. All other classes had a review day and a test following it.

TOY DRIVE

The Juda School District is participating in the Monroe Woman’s Club Annual Toy Drive. We are collecting toys for children ages 0 to 12. All unwrapped toys to be donated can be brought to the main office now through Monday, Dec. 16.

SENIOR SEMINAR

For the next few weeks, the senior class will be coming home with something a little different than expected. The seniors have to take a baby home overnight in order to show them what having a baby is like. If your child does not come home with a baby, then they most likely chose to take care of it at school or took care of a baby in child development.

ACT PREP CLASS

An ACT prep class will be held at Evansville High School to prepare for the March ACT State-Mandated Test. Enrollment may be done online at www.wisconsinestprep.com. The first class will be a practice test on Saturday, January 11, from 9:00-11:00 a.m. If any questions arise, please contact the course instructor, Mrs. Diane Baxter, at www.baxter.act@gmail.com.

FFA

FFA scholarships are now open.

The National FFA scholarships aren’t due until Jan. 15. Wisconsin FFA scholarships are due March 15. Fruit orders will be in on Dec. 12. Students who sold enough fruit earned their FFA jackets. Congrats to Celina Mendoza, Kaite Brooks, Jadyne Ellefson, Payton Hinton, Luke McCullough, Micheal Hosch, and Hunter Foster.

ENGLISH

The Freshmen in English I are continuing their unit on learning about the correct usage of commas. The Sophomores in English II are continuing on their gerund unit. The Juniors in English III are starting to write an argumentative essay about any current topic of their choosing. The Seniors in Written Communication are going to start writing an essay on technology today, while the Seniors in English Honors are going to start reading Utopia.

THE PAW

The Paw will have a few more weekly promotions throughout the semester. One of the promotions that will last the rest of the semester is Paw rewards cards. Spend ten dollars at the store and get one dollar of store credit to spend. One of the upcoming promotions: If a student finds a golden ticket that is hidden in the school, they can redeem that ticket for a free item at The Paw up to a certain price.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

The middle school had a great time during Terrific Tuesday activities last Tuesday. Many participated in games, and others enjoyed just hanging out their last class period before Thanksgiving break. Be sure to keep up on homework to be able to participate in next month’s activities.

THANKSGIVING PLAY

Tuesday, Nov. 26, the Pre-K and Kindergartners performed their Thanksgiving play for the community. The students sang a variety of Thanksgiving songs including, “We are Helpful,” “I’m a Little Indian,” “Be Thankful,” “Thanksgiving Song,” and “Sailing.” They held an after-party where they ate snacks and drank punch.

PUMP IT UP

Monday, Nov. 25, the elementary was rewarded with a trip to Pump It Up! in Madison. All students who participated in selling the Juda Saver Cards and returned with money were able to attend.

BOYS BASKETBALL

The boys’ basketball team will be playing Orangeville the week after Thanksgiving break, on Saturday, Dec. 7. The game will be held at Lena-Winslow High School at 1:30 p.m.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK

This week’s teacher of the week is Jackie Klar. She has been teaching at Juda School since 1991. She teaches Ancient Civilization, Geography, U.S. History, and 8th grade Math in the middle school as well as STEAM classes for grades k-5 and 7. As the district STEAM coordinator, she is involved with the development of curriculum and programs for our school and with consulting outside our district. Mrs. Klar is also the rocket club advisor and serves on the safety committee. She received her Master’s Degree from UW-Platteville. She loved all her classes in high school because she loves learning about everything. Her favorite animal is the cow.

Alan Morris receives Hometown Hero Award

In October the Orfordville Modern Woodman Youth Group presented the Hometown Hero award to Orfordville resident Alan Morris. Morris received a $50 gift certificate to a local business and was asked to choose a local organization that would receive a $50 donation in his name. Morris chose the Parkview Athletic Department to receive the donation and also contributed $200 more to the department to be used to help pay athletic fees for students who may not have the means to pay to participate in athletics.

The Hometown Hero Award is presented to Alan Morris by Amber & CJ Bennet, advisors for the local chapter of the Modern Woodman Youth Group.
