Former Brodhead man journeying for charity and awareness

By Siara Schwartzlow
EDITOR

Former Brodhead resident Dennis Schulze is on his way to Lambeau Field via his wheelchair to raise money and awareness for various causes.

In June of 2012, Schulze was in a severe motor vehicle crash. Rescuers had no choice but to amputate part his leg in order to remove him from his semi-truck. He faced only a 40% chance to live, and after eight surgeries, another portion of his leg was amputated, this time above the knee.

Shortly following the accident, Schulze lost his father to Alzheimer's, and he lost his mother a year later to cancer. His cousin, Ryan Copeland, was also killed in the line of duty as a police officer in a K-9 unit in McFarland. This succession prompted Schulze to do something to help other people.

His current journey is taking him to Lambeau Field. Along the way, he is speaking with concerned passersby and raising awareness for things that he is passionate about. Five particular charities he is focusing on are LEDR (Law Enforcement Death Response), March of Dimes and specifically, Mason's Angels, in honor of his five-year-old cousin Mason Bartrum, Alzheimer's research, lung and brain cancer research, and St. Jude Research Hospital.

Schulze's 170-mile trek began late last week when he departed from Janesville.

"The best part is the amount of people that keep stopping and wanting to see if he's OK," Joan Sohn, a friend who's following behind Schulze in her car, said. "It's unreal. Right away, they want to give him money."

Schulze won't take their money, though; he said he doesn't want to take advantage of people feeling sorry for him. He wants those who see him to visit his Facebook page and donate to one of the causes he's fighting for instead.

"The people who stop and don't know me - they see us; they still want to stop. I tell them who I am and what I've done, and I tell them I'm not taking any money," Schulze said. "If you read my story and my story touches your heart, now you have a reason. I don't want anything. I'm out here doing this for people with cancer."

For Schulze, seeing people come together is just as important as raising awareness. In a recent interview, he noted how meaningful it is for people to stop and talk to him - just to make sure he's OK. "Usually, all you hear of is the bad stuff in the world," he said. Regardless of his accident, he is determined to make a difference and make the world a brighter place. "There's good in the world," he said.

Lastly, Schulze's journey is one that can inspire others, regardless of their personal circumstances. "I've got one leg above the knee, and I'm out there doing this in a wheelchair and trying to help the people who can't even get into a wheelchair. They can't get out of bed," he said. "I'm out there trying to show that people with disabilities can do things like this."

Through his experience, Schulze has developed a slogan to help inspire people and to help raise awareness: "Let's all pull together for those who can't walk together."

Schulze would like to say, "Hi," to his sister Deb Foster and her family, and his children, Denny and Justina. "Dad loves you," he added.

The two passengers in the sedan succumbed to their injuries and were pronounced dead at the hospital on Saturday. The driver of the truck is in serious condition.

Speed is considered a factor in the crash.

Chief Wickstrum to retire from Orfordville Police Department

Chief Dave Wickstrum, who served over four decades in the law enforcement field, announced last week that he would be retiring from the Village of Orfordville Police Department at the end of April this year.

Wickstrum has been Chief in Orfordville since 2005, which was his second tour of duty with the Village as Police Chief. Wickstrum served Orfordville from 1984 to 1987, leaving to assume the Chief's position in the City of Brodhead, where he served as Chief until 1999 when he accepted a position as Chief Deputy at the Green County Sheriff's Department.

Wickstrum, a Marine Corps Viet Nam Veteran, began his law enforcement career after his honorable discharge from the Marine Corps in 1973. Wickstrum served with seven law enforcement agencies in capacity as an officer, a sergeant, and an investigator, as well as a Chief of Police for three police agencies, the Village of Union, IL, the City of Brodhead, and the Village of Orfordville. He was also the chief deputy for the Green County Sheriff's Department.

In addition to his long-time police experience, Wickstrum was a licensed EMT and fireman and served tours with the Muscoda and Orfordville Fire Departments and was a charter member of the Brodhead Area EMS. Wickstrum also spent some time as a police instructor at Blackhawk Technical College instructing police ethics.

Wickstrum said his public service career has been a fantastic journey and that he was blessed to have a position of trust to protect persons, as well as having a part in shaping communities and improving relations between law enforcement and those who were served. As a leader, he was also able to encourage and mentor young officers to achieve their fulfillment as law enforcement officers and was also able to help develop safety programs for children, adults, and senior citizens.

When asked about his plans following retirement, Chief Dave said that he would like to get more involved with the organizations he belongs to: The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans. He also expressed interested in communicating and ministering to senior citizens as a representative of his church.

TAX TIME 2017

IRS annual 'Dirty Dozen' list of tax scams to avoid includes falsely padding deductions

Avoid the temptation to falsely inflate deductions or expenses on tax returns, the IRS warned in its 2017 "Dirty Dozen" list of tax scams. Doing so may result in paying less than is owed or receiving a larger refund than is due.

The majority of taxpayers file honest and accurate tax returns each year; however, each year, some taxpayers "fudge" their information. This is why falsely claiming deductions, expenses, or credits on tax returns remains on the "Dirty Dozen" list of tax scams.

Taxpayers should think twice before overstating deductions such as charitable contributions, padding business expenses, or including credits that they are not entitled to receive - like the Earned Income Tax Credit or Child Tax Credit.

Each year, increasingly efficient automated systems generate most IRS audits. The IRS can normally audit returns filed within the last three years. Additional years can be added if substantial errors are identified or fraud is suspected. Although there is no way to entirely avoid an audit, preparing an accurate tax return is a taxpayer's best defense.

Significant penalties may apply for taxpayers who file incorrect returns, including 20 percent of the disallowed amount for filing an erroneous claim for a refund or credit; or $5,000 if the IRS determines a taxpayer has filed a "frivolous tax return." A frivolous tax return is one that does not include enough information to figure the correct tax or that contains information clearly showing that the tax reported is substantially incorrect.

In addition to the full amount of tax owed, a taxpayer could be assessed a penalty of 75 percent of the amount owed if the underpayment on the return resulted from tax fraud.

Taxpayers may be subject to criminal prosecution and be brought to trial for actions such as tax evasion (willful failure to file a return, supply information, or pay any tax due), fraud and false statements (preparing and filing a fraudulent return), or identity theft. Criminal prosecution could lead to additional penalties and even prison time.

More information about IRS audits, the balance due collection process, and possible civil and criminal penalties for non-compliance is available at the IRS website.

Taxpayers can also learn more about the Taxpayer Bill of Rights at IRS.gov. This is a set of fundamental rights each taxpayer should be aware of when dealing with the IRS, including when the IRS audits a tax return.

To find tips about choosing a return preparer, better understand the differences in credentials and qualifications, research the IRS preparer directory, and learn how to submit a complaint regarding a tax return preparer, visit www.irs.gov/chooseatapro.

Parkview holds spelling bees

Collin Bontreger, Gypsy Byrns crowned winners

Parkview Elementary School (PES) held their annual spelling bee on Thursday, Feb. 2. Twenty-four students in grades three through six took part in the spelling bee.

Each grade level determined the top spellers to represent their grade in the all-school spelling bee.

After twelve rounds, there were two students left: Collin Bontreger and Henry Krajeck. In the twenty-fourth round, both misspelled their words, and in round twenty-five, Henry misspelled his word and Collin spelled his word correctly. Collin spelled one more word correctly and was declared the winner.

Collin, who is in fifth grade, was also the PES winner last year. He will represent PES at the Regional Spelling Bee in Whitewater on March 1. Should he not be able to attend, Henry would fill in as runner up.

Parkview Junior High held their Spelling Bee on Tuesday, Feb. 7. Students who wanted to take part signed up to do so. Six students participated.

Gypsy Byrns finished first and will represent Parkview Junior High at the Regional Spelling Bee in Whitewater on March 1. Max Gerber was the runner up and will represent Parkview should Gypsy not be able to attend.

Comets fall to Black Hawk, 74-49

By Derek Hoesly
CORRESPONDENT

The Albany Comets (7-11 overall, 2-7 Six Rivers) ran into a buzz saw as the Black Hawk Warriors cruised to a 74-49 Six Rivers Eastern division victory last Thursday.

The Warriors raced out to a 22-10 lead in the opening half. The Comets went on a 10-2 run to snatch the momentum. Senior sharp shooter Brock Gilkes ignited the run with a three. Senior Connor Trow buried a tough floater in the lane during the surge.

"Sometimes the adjustment you need to make is making shots," coach Derek Allen said. "I thought we did that. In general, our half-court defense has been very good in the last five to six games, and it was for that stretch. That's how our 10-2 run happened."

Warriors' Colby Argall came up with a steal and fast-break lay-in to stop the bleeding. Junior Logun Parker responded with a rightwing three to cut the deficit to 26-23 with 3:30 on the clock.

Conner Meyer then did major damage to give the Warriors separation. The Warriors blew the game open with a 12-0 run to take a commanding 38-23. Meyer fueled the run with a conventional three-point play on a slash to the rim. Meyer ended the run with a rightwing three.

"Black Hawk is a tall and athletic team," Allen said. "They're really an excellent team. I think in that stretch, we turned the ball over a couple times, and that allowed them to get out into the open court. They make you pay. When we're taking care of the ball in the half court, we can compete with a team like that but when we're turning the ball over and letting them run, it's tough."

Black Hawk's press forced turnovers during the game-changing 12-0 run. The tall and lengthy Warriors posed problems for the Comets throughout the contest. Black Hawk took a 41-25 lead into the locker room.

Gilkes knocked down a long ball early in the second half to make the score 43-28. The Warriors answered with a 6-0 run to keep the large separation.

Albany had no answer for Meyer as he converted twice during the run. Meyer had a game-high 27 points.

"Conner Meyer with his size and athleticism -- it's just a really tough matchup for us, and it's not just him," Allen said. "Some teams you can focus on a player like Conner Meyer because that's all they have, but top to bottom, Black Hawk is an excellent team. You kind of pick your poison, and with us, we just tried to play him straight up, and Meyer took advantage of it."

Despite the large deficit, the Comets continued to play with a high level of effort in the second half. Gilkes knocked down his fourth three of the game. Albany executed a perfect offensive possession as sophomore Corbin Kelly kicked out to an open Josh Dahl, who buried the three. Senior Jacob Elmer found the bottom of the net on a long ball to make the score 54-37.

The Warriors came back with a 6-0 run to go up 60-37. Meyer displayed his mid-range game and buried a jumper in the lane.

Gilkes paced the Comets' offensive attack with 16 points, including four threes. Trow chipped in 10 points with eight coming in the first half. Dahl added seven points for the Comets.

"Trow and Gilkes played well. They're our top two scorers, so when they're going, we can score; when they're not going, it's a struggle for us," Allen said. "They played pretty well tonight against a team like Black Hawk that's tall."

"The last few games, we're seeing the second round of our conference opponents, and every game that we've played, we played the team tougher than the first time," Allen said. "We're headed in the right direction. The main thing that I'm focused on is turnovers. When we turn the ball over 15 or 20 times, a game it's really hard for us to compete with good teams. My goal over the last couple weeks of the season is to cut down on the turnovers. If we do that, I feel that we can be competitive going into the playoffs."

Wisconsin to New York, via volleyball

By Sean Devlin
CORRESPONDENT
Cheer, cheer for Sayde McDermott, the Albany High School senior who, in a few short months, will suit up and hit the volleyball court for the Dolphins of the College of Mount Saint Vincent.

The college, a Catholic liberal arts institution, is located in the northwest corner of the Riverdale section of the Bronx: the northernmost location of New York City -- just a mere 934 miles from Albany, Wis.

The athletic program is part of the NCAA Division III, Skyline Division. McDermott signed her letter of intent during the intermission of the men's varsity basketball game on Feb. 9 while her loved ones and Comet fans sat at the edge of their seats waiting to erupt in applause for her accomplishment.

Not long ago, McDermott visited the campus in New York and explained that her initial reaction was, "Wow, I'm visiting New York," a thought quickly followed by, "This is where I want to be."

While McDermott is excited to "play with the girls" at CMSV, she spoke maturely and seemed enthusiastic to begin her new academic challenges. "I'm excited for different opportunities -- to learn different things."

While she is unsure of what exactly she wants to do as a career, she is positive that pursuing a major in business with an emphasis in marketing and sports management will set her on the path she is meant to be on. "I know I want to work with athletes," she said.

The College of Mount Saint Vincent is home to a student population of no more than 2,000—a fact that McDermott finds comforting as the village of Albany would be considered a small town by many. "Home away from home," McDermott said.

McDermott will begin her new journey in New York mid-summer. To her loving community of Albany, she had this to say: "I want to thank my coaches and teammates for all the knowledge they have shared with me and my community that has pushed me. And, of course, my parents who have always supported me."

Covered Bridge Days horse show volunteers sought

Established in 2006 as part of Brodhead's sesquicentennial celebration, Brodhead's Covered Bridge Horse Show is a non-profit, all-volunteer presentation. It was established as a means for local horse enthusiasts to show and share their abilities in equine activities.

The show has been supported by many local businesses and organizations that have helped to keep entry fees low.

With over 50 classes, the two-day horse show encourages riders of all ages and abilities to join the fun.

Over the years, the show has attracted participants from over thirty communities in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois.

It is at this time that we are searching for an organization or group of adults to continue this event. Several of the current volunteers have made the decision to step away, and we hope to find others interested in continuing this program.

If you are interested in becoming involved or have questions about continuing this program, please email your name and phone number to brodheadhorshow@yahoo.com.

Green County Board Updates

By Erica Roth
BOARD SUPERVISOR

There is still a lot of buzz about the proposed Pinnacle Dairy. "Buzz" may not be the right word; "uproar" may be a more appropriate description.

Since I last wrote two weeks ago, quite a bit has happened. A website has popped up that gives information about CAFOs, but more specifically, it has an interactive map showing where this mega dairy will be spreading its millions of gallons of waste in Green County. Visitors to the website can click on the land parcels, and information about the land owners pops up.

There is also an easy way for concerned citizens to contact the entire Green County Board via email. The board has received several emails from citizens already. It is an easy and essential way to voice your opinions and concerns to the board; I encourage you to contact the board with your thoughts and concerns, especially the Land and Water Conservation Committee, as they still need to approve, or not, the final permits. The website to which I am referring is PinnacleDairy-Problem.com.

Other counties in our state that have been dealing with the effects of huge CAFOs, or the looming threat of CAFOs, have been tightening their local ordinances. A snowball effect seems to be taking place, in which some of the counties are banding together and standing against lax controls. I urge you to contact your supervisor and request that Green County, too, does everything it can to protect our local farmers and citizens. Another important step is to contact your state legislators.

In talking with the DNR, it is clear that changes need to happen at the state level. Your voice can make a difference -- it may be the only thing that does.

There is a farm and rural lobby day at the capitol later this month. I will be going. If you are interested, please contact me. I can give you information about it.

The next Land and Water Conservation Committee meeting will be held on Thursday, March 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the USDA office in Monroe. As with all committee meetings, the public is welcomed to attend.

The Government Services Building project is proceeding nicely. I was able to attend the last meeting and am impressed with the progress. An up-to-date presentation of the project is being planned for the March County Board meeting. I invite you to come and see firsthand what is being planned for this new building.

The Green County Board meets the second Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. in the Historic Courthouse in Monroe. The March meeting will be Tuesday, March 14.

The Spring Primary Election is on Tuesday, Feb. 21! State Superintendent will be on the ballot. Make sure to get to your polling station that day.

If you have questions or concerns, please contact your county board supervisor. You can find meeting schedules and supervisor information at the county website: www.co.green.wi.gov.

Also, please feel free to contact me: I am happy to connect with not only my constituents in District 24, but any Green County resident. You can reach me at 608-371-9074 or EricaRothGreenCountyBoard@gmail.com.

UW-Extension Master Gardener training coming soon

If you are interested in learning how to better manage your lawn, trees, shrubs, or garden and share your gained knowledge with others, you may want to register for the UW-Extension Master Gardener Level One training that will be offered in Monroe later this winter. Classes to learn more about horticulture and to become a UW-Extension Certified Master Gardener Volunteer are being offered on Tuesday evenings (6 to 9 p.m.) from Feb. 21 to Apr. 25 at the Green County UW-Extension Office, 2841 6th Street, Monroe. Two Saturday sessions, March 11 and May 6, will also be part of the training to be offered in 2017.

University of Wisconsin-Extension specialists and Green County Master Gardener volunteers will help class participants learn more about Soils, Plant Nutrition and Composting, Botany, Plant Growth and Propagation, Lawn Care, Trees and Shrubs, Entomology, Plant Diseases, Weed ID and Invasive Plants, Integrated Pest Management, Vegetables, Fruits, General Gardening, Backyard Wildlife, Landscaping with Herbaceous Plants and Perennials, and Houseplants.

Participants receive two, three-ring binders featuring the latest university reference information on topics covered during the course.

In exchange for this instruction, participants are required to volunteer a minimum of 24 hours of volunteer service as a resource for horticulture inquiries in their community. This can be done through the UW-Extension Office in Green County or through many of the community projects done by the Green County Master Gardeners Association.

The cost to attend the 12-week program is $150 per person. This fee includes a binder with University of Wisconsin Horticulture Publications, a Master Gardener Handbook, and admission to the Green County Master Gardeners Gardening Symposium on March 11. A limited number of scholarships are available to help pay a portion of the cost for those who qualify.

The program is open to anyone 18 years of age or older. Registrations must be received by Feb. 9 at the Green County UW-Extension Office. A minimum number of participants is required to run the classes.

For more information or to register, contact Mark Mayer, Agriculture Agent, at 608-328-9440, or visit the Green County UW-Extension website at green.uwex.edu to print an informational brochure and registration form for the program.

The maple syrup season is fast approaching, and Albany FFA members are looking for volunteers willing to help with the collection, cooking, and bottling of the syrup.

Time to sweeten up Albany

By Hailey Stefanik
Do you like maple syrup on your pancakes or waffles? Have you ever tried it on ice cream? Are you interested in the process of making maple syrup? Are you looking to give back to the community?

The Albany FFA is looking for volunteers who would be interested in helping with their upcoming maple syrup project.

FFA members have been busy preparing for the upcoming maple syrup season. The sugaring season usually starts in the end of February and runs until mid-March, depending on the weather. Students and volunteers complete every step in the production of the syrup, including tapping the trees, hanging bags for collection, collecting sap from the community, and collecting and splitting wood to use in the cooking the sap.

Back at the school, students and volunteers will be hard at work cooking down the sap in the newly constructed maple syrup shed. The syrup must then be hand bottled and labeled.

This year, we are specifically looking for individuals who are willing to help us cook during the school day.

If you are interested in being involved in this project or for more information, contact FFA Advisor Mr. Rupp at 608-778-8257.

NOTICE OF SPRING PRIMARY AND SAMPLE BALLOTS — FEBRUARY 21, 2017

OFFICE OF THE GREEN COUNTY CLERK TO THE VOTERS OF GREEN COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given of a spring primary election to be held in Green County on February 21, 2017, at which the officers named below shall be nominated. The names of the candidates for each office, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given under the title of the office, each in its proper column, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

Upon entering the polling place, a voter shall state his or her name and address, show an acceptable form of photo identification and sign the poll book before being permitted to vote. If a voter is not registered to vote, a voter may register to vote at the polling place serving his or her residence, if the voter presents proof of residence in a form specified by law. Where ballots are distributed to electors, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the voter shall retire alone to a voting booth and cast his or her ballot except that a voter who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the voter's minor child or minor ward. An election official may inform the voter of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not in any manner advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

Where Optical Scan Voting is Used

The voter shall fill in the oval next to the name of the candidate of his or her choice for each office for which he or she intends to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall write in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote, and fill in the oval next to the write-in line.

When using an electronic ballot marking device to mark an optical scan ballot, the voter shall touch the screen at the name of the candidate of his or her choice for each office for which he or she intends to vote.

To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall type in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote.

The vote should not be cast in any other manner. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth. Sample ballots or other materials to assist the voter in casting his or her vote may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

If the voter spoils an optical scan ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initiated by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the voter shall return it to the election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place.

After Voting the Ballot

After an official optical scan ballot is marked, the voter shall insert the ballot in the voting device and shall leave the polling place promptly.

A voter may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the voter declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing or understanding English or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the voter's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the voter.

The following is a sample of the official ballot:

Ducks Unlimited auction and banquet announced

All are invited to join local conservationists, sportsmen, and wetlands supporters to enjoy an evening of food and fellowship with family and friends at the Monroe chapter of Ducks Unlimited's (DU) 45th annual fundraiser banquet and auction on Wednesday, March 1, at the Ludlow Mansion in Monroe. The event will begin at 5 p.m.

This is the 45th year we've held this event. This community has always been supportive of DU's conservation work. The banquet is a great opportunity to have fun with your family, friends, and neighbors and enjoy the raffles and auctions. The money we raise goes to support wetland and waterfowl conservation.

Tickets to the event are $60 per person and $30 for a spouse with Greenwing tickets (age 17 and under) at $30. There will be an additional charge of $5 per ticket for tickets purchased at the door.

The ticket includes dinner and a Ducks Unlimited membership. There will be a silent auction as well as a live auction featuring an array of guns and other Ducks Unlimited merchandise including prints, sculptures, and other items made and donated by local people. Several items also will be raffled off. Tickets for the raffles will be available for purchase during the event or through Armin Daubert at 608-558-2962.

Ducks Unlimited is the world's leader in wetlands and waterfowl conservation. The organization got its start in 1937 during the Dust Bowl when North America's drought-plagued waterfowl populations plunged to unprecedented lows.

We are excited that the Dodge Ram test drive will be back again this year, sponsored by Dearth Motors of Monroe. When you test drive a Dodge truck at the event, you will be entered in a drawing for a Cabela's $400 gift card. The drawing will be held on the night of the event.

Ducks Unlimited places strong emphasis on its belief in science and research. They work closely with biologists and ecologists to evaluate habitat needs and to monitor how birds respond to various environmental changes. Some of the methods used by Ducks Unlimited to conserve habitats are restoring grassland, replanting forests, restoring watersheds, educating landowners, encouraging conservation easements, and acquiring of land.

Learning the Facts About Pinnacle Dairy: Focus on Groundwater

Scientific studies and analysis concluded that construction and operation of the proposed Pinnacle Dairy will not impact groundwater. The WDNR agrees.

Dear Neighbor,

It's not unusual to be curious and possibly concerned when something new moves into the area. But learning the facts can help dispel concerns. Here are some key facts about groundwater at our proposed Pinnacle Dairy.

- The nature of groundwater at the proposed Pinnacle Dairy site was extensively studied and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (WDNR) concluded that shallow drainable perched water at the site would NOT impact the regional water table.
- This conclusion was made through extensive site assessment including excavated test pits, drilled soil borings, laboratory testing, temporary groundwater monitoring, well installations and review of area potable well logs.
- The soil investigation included 88 soil borings, 64 test pits and nine temporary well nest locations on the Pinnacle Dairy site which are still being monitored today. Ninety laboratory soil moisture tests and 120 Atterberg limit tests were conducted on site soil samples.

Four generations of Tuls family farmers combine a passion for dairy farming with state-of-the-art science and technology to protect our environment and produce healthy milk for consumers.
