Richard Bong State Recreation Area in Wisconsin has a beach access mat that provides a stable surface for walking and using mobility devices so all can visit the beach.

Sand, sun and beach access for all in Wisconsin

Planning a beach trip soon? Many Wisconsin state parks provide beach access for people with mobility disabilities by the use of beach wheelchairs and beach access mats. Find universal beach access at the following properties:

- Big Bay State Park – beach wheelchair
- Buckhorn State Park – beach wheelchair
- Devil's Lake State Park – beach access mat
- Harrington Beach State Park – beach wheelchair
- Kohler-Andrae State Park – two beach wheelchairs
- Peninsula State Park – beach access mat
- Richard Bong State Recreation Area – beach access mat
- Whitefish Dunes State Park – beach wheelchair (limited beach access due to construction)

Beach access conditions can fluctuate due to weather and water levels, so make sure to check with the property for more information before you visit.

Warning for scam calls impersonating former RCSO sheriff

Over a few days just before July 21, the Rock County Communications Center reported phone calls from four citizens throughout the State of Wisconsin indicating they received scam calls from an alleged "Deputy Sheriff Spoden" with the Rock County Sheriff's Office.

In each case, the caller is a male with a southern accent who has left messages for some people indicating they need to return his call regarding an urgent legal matter. The calls also came from the same phone number which appears to be an untraceable voiceover IP number likely spoofed from the internet.

In one instance where someone actually answered the phone, the suspect advised a woman she missed a court proceeding and needed to drive directly to the Rock County Sheriff's Office while staying on the phone with him for the entire drive, which would have been over two hours in length. While deputies and investigators from the Rock County Sheriff's Office sometimes schedule meetings over the phone, they would never require someone to stay on the phone with them the entire time and travel such great distances to do so.

This has happened in the past where suspects have used the names of current Rock County Sheriff's Office employees in attempts to defraud people. In this case, the name used was of former Sheriff Spoden who has since retired from office.

In the event any citizens have received any recent calls similar in nature, or anytime someone receives a call where the origin and validity seem questionable, the Sheriff's Office would like to be notified. Members of the public can call the non-emergency number for the Rock County Communications Center at 608-757-2244.

Vouchers for fresh produce available to Rock County seniors

Seniors who love fresh produce from the farmers' markets and roadside stands, but don't feel it's in their budget, now have an opportunity to enjoy the produce they have been craving. The Nutrition Program of the ADRC (Aging and Disability Resource Center) of Rock County still has Senior Farmers' Market vouchers available. Of the 560 sets allotted for Rock County, there are still 130 vouchers that can still be claimed.

Vouchers worth $35 are offered to eligible seniors to purchase fresh, locally grown fruits, vegetables, and herbs from participating vendors at farmers' markets and roadside stands around Wisconsin. Each eligible individual may receive vouchers only once per calendar year.

In previous years, vouchers had been worth only $25, and there had been a limit of only one set of vouchers per household. However, this year vouchers are worth $35, and are available to all qualified individuals in the household.

Those eligible are seniors age 60 or older and Native Americans age 55 or older, who have a monthly household income of not more than $2,248 for a one-person household, or not more than $3,041 for a two-person household. Only Rock County residents may apply.

Vouchers are offered on a first come, first served basis. Vouchers will be made available Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. (no appointment needed), at the ADRC, 1717 Center Ave., Janesville. Enter at Door 18.

An authorized representative (or proxy) may be designated to apply for certification. Those who are unable to get to the ADRC themselves should call 608-757-5428 to request a Proxy Authorization Form. This is the only acceptable document which will permit someone else to receive vouchers on behalf of an eligible senior. The form must be signed by the voucher recipient and then taken by the authorized representative to the ADRC. There is a strict limit of four proxy forms per representative.

This is a perfect opportunity for Rock County seniors to avail themselves of fresh, local produce that is only available a short time each year. Fresh tomatoes, sweet corn, green beans, peas, radishes, cucumbers, and beets are just a few of the items which may be purchased with the vouchers.

The Nutrition Program, part of the ADRC of Rock County, is an equal opportunity provider.

Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication for program information (e.g. Braille, large print, audiotape, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact the agency (state or local) where they applied for benefits. Individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing or have speech disabilities may contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at 800-877-8339. Additionally, program information may be made available in languages other than English per Farmers' Market Nutrition Program Staff Manual (Rev. 02/17).

Minding your digital manners for Cellphone Courtesy Month of people say it's okay to use their phone while having dinner with family and friends.

Did you know that 31% of people have reported walking into someone or something while on their phone? And 43% of people say it's okay to use their phone while on a date?

Between Oct. 31 and Nov. 7, 2022, a total of 1,000 online interviews were conducted among a nationally representative sample of U.S. consumers between 18 to 41 years old by Consumer Insights, in partnership with PureSpectrum, to find this information.

In honor of Cellphone Courtesy Month in July, UScellular is sharing recent survey data and tips to mind your digital manners.

Survey results included:

- The place deemed most inappropriate to use your phone is in a place of worship – 64% of people consider that off-limits.

- Only 53% of people believe sitting in a movie theater while on your smartphone is unacceptable, but that is trending up from 47% in January 2022.

- Less than half of consumers think cellphone use during dinner with family and friends (42%), while at a restaurant (23%) or while spending time with their kids (19%) is inappropriate.

“As we rely more and more on our cellphones, we sometimes forget to be mindful and courteous to those around us,” said Christine Paulsen, Director of Sales for Wisconsin at UScellular. “UScellular is encouraging people to put down their phones to better connect with the people who matter most, especially during those times where being on a device could be insensitive to those around us.”

The company is offering the following tips to help smartphone users mind their digital manners:

- US Mode: Did you know your smartphone offers customizable settings that will help reset your relationship with technology? UScellular will now help you design your own US Mode settings, so you won't be distracted by your phone at dinner or during other times when it is best to be courteous to those around you.

- Contain the noise: Sound can travel further than you think, which can create a negative experience for those around you. Set ringers and vibration patterns on low and be mindful of your own voice when you take phone calls or video chat. Apple AirPods, Samsung Galaxy Buds or other types of headphones while you game, take a work call or stream content can help contain your digital noise.

- Watch your step: Don't be the next person to walk into someone or something while on your phone. It is a good idea to stop walking, look up and be attentive when using a wireless device.

ADRC offers program to help incontinence issues

Did you know that more than half of women over the age of 50 experience issues with bladder or bowel control? These problems can be slightly bothersome or totally debilitating. For some women, the chance of embarrassment controls their life by keeping them from enjoying many activities.

A program offered through the Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) can help. Mind Over Matter: Healthy Bowels, Healthy Bladder is a workshop researched and developed through the University of Wisconsin Madison – School of Medicine and Public Health, designed to give women, age 50 and older, the tools they need to take control of their bladder and bowel symptoms.

The workshop provides information, group activities, and simple exercises and dietary changes to practice at home. Please note, if you are a woman age 50 and older and are not currently experiencing any bladder or bowel symptoms, you are still able to benefit from this program to delay or prevent any bladder and/or bowel symptoms from developing. It is never too early or too late to begin.

Join ADRC for the next upcoming offering of Mind Over Matter on the following dates:

- Wednesday, Aug. 16
- Wednesday, Aug. 30

• Wednesday, Sept. 13

Mind Over Matter: Healthy Bowels, Healthy Bladder, consists of three, 2-hour sessions, meeting every other week. All three sessions will be held from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Community Building located in Brooklyn. It is highly encouraged to be able to attend all three sessions. This class is free of charge. Pre-registration is necessary and spots are limited. No living-in county requirements. This class fills up fast, so be sure to call right away.

To learn more or to register for the workshop, please contact the Green County ADRC at 608-328-9499 or visit the website at adrcgreencounty.org.

Agrace news – August

Options offered for grief support

Local adults living in southern Wisconsin who are grieving can find hope and healing with the help of Agrace grief support specialists.

This August, Agrace will host “Bridges,” a virtual grief support group for adults who are grieving the death of any loved one. This group provides emotional and peer support in a professionally led, group setting and requires advance registration.

Bridges (virtual) meets the second Wednesday of each month and participants can attend as often as they feel the need for support. The next meeting is Aug. 9, from 9:30 to 11 a.m., via Zoom.

Online groups meet via Zoom using a tablet, computer or smartphone, which means people can join from anywhere in the United States.

One-on-one grief support is also available by phone or video chat. This support is open to anyone, even if the person who died did not have hospice care.

There is no fee for Agrace grief support if a participant's family member was served by Agrace Hospice Care or another hospice in the past 12 months. Modest fees may apply for others, and fees can be lowered or waived, if needed.

To make an appointment or register for a grief group, visit Agrace.org/GriefGroups, call 608-327-7110, or email griefsupport@agrace.org.

Thrift store volunteers needed, hosting orientation

Agrace is seeking new volunteers in Rock County and surrounding areas and will host a volunteer orientation training Aug. 22 to help them prepare for their roles.

Local volunteers are needed to assist customers, operate the cash register and sort donations at the Agrace Thrift Store on Humes Road in Janesville, or make companionship visits to local Agrace Hospice Care patients.

Orientation for new volunteers will be held Tuesday, Aug. 22, from noon to 5 p.m., at the Agrace campus in Janesville.

All new volunteers will discuss their skills and interests with Agrace's Volunteer Services staff before attending orientation. For more information, or to get started, fill out an online application at Agrace.org/Volunteer or call 608-327-7163.

Founded in 1978, Agrace is a nonprofit, community-supported health care organization dedicated to providing high-quality care and support to people who are aging, ill, dying or grieving. With offices in Janesville, Madison, Baraboo, Dodgeville and Oconomowoc, Agrace serves more than 1,700 patients and clients across southern Wisconsin every day.

Wisconsin National Guard teams up with hospital for patient transport training

By Staff Sgt. Alice Ripberger
WISCONSIN NATIONAL GUARD

For the past few months, Wisconsin Army National Guard aviation soldiers have partnered with Aurora BayCare Medical Center to conduct training to provide a higher level of care for critically ill patients being transported by UH-60 Black Hawk helicopters.

"This helps train nurses for future partnerships if we ever needed to evacuate a patient using types of transportation that we don't often see," said Robyn Merkatoris, a nursing professional development specialist for the intensive care unit at Aurora BayCare.

Soldiers and helicopters from the West Bend, Wisconsin-based Company C, 1st Battalion, 168th Aviation Regiment (GSAB) and Company G, 2nd Battalion, 104th Aviation Regiment (GSAB) – the medevac assets of the 1st Battalion, 147th Aviation in Madison – have engaged in training scenarios tailored specifically to the critical care flight paramedics, aircrews and the team at Aurora BayCare. Sgt. James Hughes, a flight medic with Company G, said that the cross training is important because of the significant differences between the military and civilian aircraft.

"It's about setting up for success in the event of an emergency," Hughes explained.

Maj. Sarah Latza, the operations officer with the Wisconsin Army National Guard's Army Aviation Support Facility #1 in West Bend, said this kind of training is impossible to conduct internally as an air ambulance company.

"Aurora BayCare's participation increases our flight medics' and aircrews' exposure and capabilities," Latza said. "It also increases communication and coordination with civilian organizations in our backyard so that when the domestic mission happens – search and rescue patient drop-off, request to transport a critically ill patient that civilian EMS isn't able to support – our soldiers and aircrew members and the civilian medical support infrastructure are familiar with each other."

Wisconsin National Guard Soldiers Capt. John Jenkins and Staff Sgt. Eric Furbee coordinated with Sarah Pearson, nursing director at Aurora BayCare, to make this training possible.

"This kind of partnership is the only way to get this kind of training," Jenkins said. "Someone brought it up during a field training exercise, and I helped link the teams together, coordinate training, and have gotten to see it come to fruition."

Latza said the goal is to conduct this training event monthly moving forward.

"This training fully recognizes and supports the level of skill that our critical flight paramedics have been trained to," Latza said, "and resonates fully with our domestic and overseas mission."
