the last ten years.

“Soil Sisters Share is based on the idea that women learn best from each other in a format where we can ask questions and mentor and inspire one another,” explains Lisa Kivirist, coordinator of the Soil Sisters project. She and her family run Inn Serendipity Farm outside Monroe. “The full-day event for women offers an inspiring lineup of women farmers who share their knowledge and experiences, enabling participants to dive into the practicalities of successfully running farm and food-based enterprises, including value-added enterprises, land stewardship, risk management through income diversification, and body me-

Soil Sisters, a project of Renewing the Countryside, started in Green County over fifteen years ago to bring together rural women to share knowledge, resources and expertise to collaboratively advocate for conservation, sustainability, local food and networking. Featured on Around the Farm Table along with Midwest Living, Modern Farmer and a Top Rural Development Initiative Award winner, Soil Sisters spotlights the inspiring stories of women-owned family farms that produce food and fiber and host farm experiences while stewarding the landscape. Today there are over 200 Green County area women in the founding group along with additional networks and resources.

The Aug. 4 Soil Sisters Share event will include over a dozen agricultural organizations and agencies at the event sharing resources, funding opportunities and answering questions, including North Central Sustainable Agriculture Resource and Education (NCR-SARE), Wisconsin Farmers Union, Midwest GRIT and the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). Additionally, the workshop will cover body mechanics basics and how to care for our bodies to keep farming for the long term with resources from the Farm Labor Dashboard and AgrAbility of Wisconsin.

Registration is a special educational price of $30 and includes a locally-sourced lunch and scholarships are available. Registration also includes copies of two free books: Farmstead Chef co-authored by Lisa Kivirist and John Ivanko with seasonal, local favorite recipes from Inn Serendipity Farm and Renewing the Countryside: Wisconsin.

“I love having the opportunity to share my farming story and experiences with other farmers, particularly beginning women farmers starting out,” explains Chelsea Chandler, the woman farmer who will be hosting this event on her family’s organic vegetable farm, Plowshares and Prairies Farm in Argyle, about an hour southwest of Madison. “Increasingly, female farmers today like myself create innovative new approaches to farming such as improving land access and exploring new markets. We have such an inspiring collaboration among women in sustainable agriculture and all thrive and grow by supporting each other in collective efforts to transform our food system.”

On the detailed tour of her organic farm, Chandler will take folks through the high tunnels used to extend the growing season and how financial support from Wisconsin NRCS (Natural Resources Conservation Services) made these possible. The tour will also include the packing shed and converted barn used for wedding and agritourism rentals with plenty of time for questions.

“These Soil Sisters events bring together women in a safe space to collaboratively connect, share and inspire each other,” explains Jan

Joannides, Executive Director of Renewing the Countryside. “The research has shown that women thrive in such peer-based, informal learning environments, especially when we have the opportunity to gather together on a woman landowner’s property and draw inspiration from her conservation actions, like Chelsea Chandler has done on her farm.”

Renewing the Countryside is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization working to strengthen rural areas by building awareness and support for sustainable endeavors, reinforcing urban-rural connections, and providing practical assistance and networking opportunities for people who are renewing the countryside through sustainable and innovative initiatives, businesses, and projects.

UW-Madison announces 2023 spring graduates

A total of 8,625 students received degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison on May 12-13, including students from this area.

There were two live ceremonies: one for undergraduates at Camp Randall and one for all graduate degree candidates at the Kohl Center. Graduating were 6,225 undergraduate students, 1,487 master’s degree students and 913 doctoral candidates.

Keynote speaker Eric H. Holder Jr., the third-longest serving U.S. attorney general in the country’s history and the father of a Badger alumna, praised graduates for grasping the most urgent issues facing America.

“You’re already leading the way,” Holder told them.

Chancellor Jennifer L. Mnookin said the graduates’ achievements were extra impressive given that most of them were just freshmen when the pandemic hit. Liam McLean, senior class president, offered remarks on behalf of the class of 2023. He recounted how a serious speech and language delay as a child made him the target of relentless bullying. Now, he leans into that experience to help others be heard.

Blackhawk Technical College news

BTC receives $150,000 grant to improve digital outreach

Blackhawk Technical College has been selected as one of six community colleges nationwide to receive a $150,000 grant from Lumina Foundation to improve and expand its digital outreach capabilities to better connect with prospective students.

The grant will enable Blackhawk to implement a new user-friendly registration platform exclusively designed for students seeking to take non-credit courses from the college. By enhancing accessibility and streamlining the registration process, the new platform will open doors for returning adults to explore additional career options and seek new paths for personal and professional growth.

“Blackhawk is deeply grateful to Lumina Foundation for their generous support,” said Dr. Tracy Pierner, President of Blackhawk. “A new platform will provide a seamless experience for our students and ultimately expand the education opportunities available to everyone in Rock and Green counties.”

Last year, Lumina launched The Million Dollar Community College Challenge, a national grant competition to help community colleges position their brand and marketing to gain the attention of adult learners. Nine finalists and one grand prize winner were selected. As part of that process, Lumina heard from hundreds of community colleges across the country with strong visions for improving community connections, marketing and outreach. Many of these colleges also expressed an immediate need to improve how they use social media, college websites and mobile technology to increase engagement, interest in the college, and access to information needed to make informed choices about enrollment.

“We are thrilled to provide the resources these schools need to connect with potential students,” said Mary Laphen Pope, strategy officer for community college participation at Lumina. “We intentionally focused on smaller colleges, which make up most two-year institutions. These colleges are vital to education access and economic mobility and need additional investments to bring what they have to offer to the hands of today’s students.”

The other selected colleges to receive a Lumina grant are Iowa Lakes Community College, Bismarck State College, South Piedmont Community College, Central Wyoming College and Guam Community College.

About Lumina

Lumina Foundation is an independent, private foundation in Indianapolis committed to making opportunities for learning beyond high school available to all. They envision higher learning that is easy to navigate, addresses racial injustice, and meets the nation’s talent needs through a broad range of credentials. They are working toward a system that prepares people for informed citizenship and success in a global economy.

Blackhawk graduates 15 students through an Accelerated Industrial Maintenance (AIM) class

Fifteen students graduated on July 21 from the Accelerated Industrial Maintenance (AIM) program made possible by a grant from the Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development (DWD).

“This graduating class is an example of the success we have seen through Gov. Tony Evers’s Workforce Advancement Initiative. On-the-job skills training – programs just like this – are critical to keep our workforce moving ahead and economic recovery going full speed ahead. We are so thankful for you, and we are so proud of you,” Jennifer Sereno, DWD Assistant Secretary, said at the graduation, which was held at Blackhawk’s Advanced Manufacturing Training Center in Milton.

In partnership with BTC and the Stateline Manufacturing Alliance, the AIM program was facilitated through the Southwest Wisconsin Workforce Development Board. SWWDB received a $1.6 million grant through the Evers initiative and administered through the DWD last fall to implement several projects to help assist and improve the workforce needs in several critical areas, including industrial maintenance.

Ana Dominguez, a junior at Rock University High School in Janesville, was one of 15 students who completed the AIM program. Most the students were in high school or recently graduated.

“Being in the AIM program was a wonderful opportunity where throughout this experience I have gained knowledge in many areas of manufacturing. I also developed skills like critical thinking, managing time, recognizing and following safety standards,” she said. “Not only are we working on machines, but we are gaining knowledge for our future. Another great part of the program are the tours of companies where we got to see firsthand the career opportunities in manufacturing.”

The four-week AIM summer program was comprised of Blackhawk courses that provided a foundation skillset for those seeking career opportunities in industrial maintenance and technology. The program can be applied toward a Maintenance Technical Diploma from BTC. The program also included career exploration opportunities at local manufacturers.

“I applaud you for your commitment, the skills you’ve gained,” Greg Phillips, Dean of Manufacturing, Apprenticeship, Technology and Transportation told the graduates. “Our partners need you; our community needs you. It is programs like this – and graduates like you – that are the key to making a difference.”

Aquatic Invasive Species Snapshot Day is Aug. 19

Wisconsin residents invited to help search Wisconsin's waters for invasive species

Water lovers of all ages are invited to join the statewide search for aquatic invasive species (AIS) such as Asiatic clams, Chinese mystery snails, and Eurasian water-milfoil on Saturday, Aug. 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This fun, hands-on effort, known as AIS Snapshot Day, relies on participants to monitor streams, lakes, and wetlands at designated sites across the state, for signs of non-native plants and animals that pose risks to Wisconsin waterways and wildlife. Volunteers have a choice to register at one of over 20 event locations hosted by local conservation groups.

Coordinated in partnership by UW-Madison Division of Extension, UW-Stevens Point Extension Lakes, River Alliance of Wisconsin, and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Snapshot Day is entering its 10th successful year. Information collected will be provided to the Wisconsin DNR to inform and guide monitoring and response efforts. Volunteers are key to the success of the event.

Last year, over 150 volunteers rolled up their sleeves to monitor more than 234 sites across the state, making for a fun and safe event. "Projects like AIS Snapshot Day are a fun and simple way for volunteers to get engaged," says Maureen Ferry, DNR AIS Monitoring Coordinator. "Each year, we find new aquatic invasive species."

For Rock County, Rock River Coalition will host a Snapshot Day event at Kiwanis Pond Park, off of S. Randall Ave. in Janesville. Events are also being hosted in Madison, Elkhorn, Mukwonago, West Bend, and other locations across the state.

This is a free event. Recommended for ages 8 and up, minors must be accompanied by an adult. Advance registration is requested to help Site Leaders build monitoring plans. Register online and see all details at wateractionvolunteers.org/ events.

A PDF handbook of what to expect for the event can be found on the website, as well, that also tells volunteers things such as what items to bring.

This young man from Rock County attended the 2022 Aquatic Invasive Species Snapshot Day to lend a hand in keeping Wisconsin waters safer from non-native plants and animals that pose a risk to native wildlife. This year's Snapshot Day for Rock County will be Saturday, Aug. 19, and advance registration is required.

Public surveys reporting game bird sightings like the ruffed grouse help the DNR monitor the reproduction of game birds for that breeding year.

DNR asks public for help completing surveys of deer and game birds

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is seeking the public's help collecting crucial deer and game bird management data. The data will be collected starting Aug. 1 through the Operation Deer Watch Survey and the Game Bird Brood Observations Survey.

These surveys are designed to measure the reproductive status of deer and game birds. Data from public observations is used to collect crucial deer and game bird management ratio for deer and a poult-to-hen ratio for game birds. These ratios are then compared to data from previous years to estimate how productive this year's deer herd/game birds are.

"Whenever you are out and about in Wisconsin, you can share observations of deer and game birds through the Survey123 submission tool," said Jes Rees Lohr, Assistant DNR Surveys Coordinator.

Zoo takes the stage to announce 2023 A La Carte headliners

The Milwaukee County Zoo is excited to announce the entertainment headliners for this year's A La Carte at the Zoo, presented by Meijer.

The four-day festival – a Milwaukee tradition – takes place Aug. 17-20. Hours for the festival are Thursday through Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Thursday, Aug. 17, 7 p.m.
Vertical Horizon
Miller Lite Caribou Stage

Vertical Horizon's vibrant, high-energy alternative/pop rock shows are filled with an assortment of their well-known hits. The band – then and now – is led by founder, lead singer, and guitarist Matt Scannell, who penned their 1999 breakthrough album, "Everything You Want." More than two million copies were sold, and the title song captured the #1 spot on Billboard's Hot 100 and Adult Top 40 charts. It went on to become Billboard's most-played single of 2000. The band's success continued with "You're a God," reaching #3 on Billboard's Adult Chart and "Best I Ever Had (Grey Sky Morning)" hitting #4 on the Billboard charts. County star Gary Allan later covered "Best I Ever Had," making it a Top 20 country hit in 2005.

Friday, Aug. 18, 7 p.m.
Eli Young Band
Miller Lite Caribou Stage
The Grammy-nominated

Eli Young Band has always been unique in modern country music as a true "band of brothers" who cling fast to their Texas roots while maintaining an impressive collection of chart-toppers. Since the band's formation as college classmates 20 years ago, the band has amassed 14 Billboard-charting singles, including four #1 hits via quadruple Platinum "Crazy Girl" and double Platinum "Even If It Breaks Your Heart," plus Platinum "Love Ain't" and "Drunk Last Night," while also earning an ACM Award for Song of the Year. Sing along to their soulful, hearts-on-fire brand of country.

Saturday, Aug. 19, 7 p.m.
The Record Company
Miller Lite Caribou Stage

The Record Company is a blues-rock trio, fronted by Wisconsin native Chris Vos – and the band's performance at A La Carte marks a true, poetic homecoming for Vos, a Milwaukee music scene veteran even prior to The Record Company's formation. Influenced by The Rolling Stones and John Lee Hooker, the band's first full-length album, "Give It Back to You," was released in 2016. The lead single, "Off the Ground," reached #1 on the Billboard Adult Alternative Songs chart, and the album was nominated in 2017 for the Grammy Awards' Best Contemporary Blues Album. "Life to Fix," the lead single off the band's second studio album, "All of

Vertical Horizon – Aug. 17

This Life," topped the charts in 2018, also hitting #1 on the Billboard Adult Alternative Songs chart.

The 2023 A La Carte at the Zoo will come alive with music, food, and fun – and don't forget the over 2,000 animals! Popular Milwaukee restaurants will be located throughout the park, offering delicious fare, while six stages of entertainment are sure to offer musical stylings for all. From hip-hop and jazz to Top 40 and everything in between, get your groove on near your favorite animal!

In addition to the fabulous food, A La Carte wouldn't be complete without zoo favorites like the Safari Train sponsored by North Shore Bank, Animal in Action Talks, Ocean Connections, Carousel sponsored by Penzeys, Goat Yard, and Kohl's Wild Theater.

New this year, bundle up for Dino Don's Journey to the Ice Age sponsored by Sendik's Food Market. Trek through the zoo's forest and marvel as extinct creatures are brought back to life. Then visit some of the giants' modern-day counterparts at the zoo!

Be transported to the mists of Rwanda with Gorilla Trek, a fully immersive, 360-degree virtual reality film with motion platform seating. It's a once-in-a-lifetime experience of mountain gorillas in their natural habitat – a journey you'll never forget.

"Every submission increases our dataset and helps Wisconsin have a clearer picture of how wildlife is doing. Everyone interested in wildlife, from hunters and trappers to outdoor enthusiasts, is encouraged to participate. It's an easy way to be involved in wildlife management in our state."

The deadline to submit bird observations for the Game Bird Brood Survey is Aug. 31. The deadline to submit deer observations for the Operation Deer Watch Survey is Sept. 30. Participation in both surveys is simple. It doesn't require registration and can be done using a mobile device. If in a vehicle, participants should only record sightings when their vehicle is stopped, not while driving.

For Operation Deer Watch, the public should report the location, deer type (buck, doe or fawn) and the number of deer seen. This information helps to determine the fawn-to-doe ratio and, ultimately, deer population estimates. More information is available on the Operation Deer Watch webpage at dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/WildlifeHabitat/summerdeer.html.

sin.gov/topic/WildlifeHabitat/summerdeer.html.

For Game Bird Brood Observations, the DNR needs to know the bird species (turkey, ruffed grouse or pheasant), the type (adult or poult) and the number observed of each type. This information is a basis for monitoring the reproduction of game birds for that breeding year. More information is available on the Game Bird Brood Observations webpage at dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/WildlifeHabitat/GameBirdBroodObservations.
